Trustee Bishop threw a thought in the municipal hopper at the Tuesday evening Arlington board meeting. He suggested that the $90,000 that Arlington Heights could get from adoption of a half cent sales tax could be profitably used to widen streets in the near-business section. Not a bad idea.

Bensenville believes in a selling job. Before adopting the sales tax it presented its problems to the Chamber of Commerce which in turn gave its unanimous approval for a two year tryout.

Palatine police officers do not understand why they should kick into social security and also the police pension fund. The finance committee thought it a good argument, but Uncle Sam says that the pension fund does not relieve them from social security obligations.

This week's Way Back When tells us that Arlington Heights started on the parking problem 10 years ago. We wonder what chance the future holds forth when it has taken Arlington 10 years to get this far. Three members of the original Chamber of Commerce committee have died.

There are many residents of Palatine rural districts who regret the decision of Ray Holtzee to resign his position as Palatine township highway commissioner. Ray has given a lot of extra service during the 15 years that he has held that job, specially following snow storms.

The Palatine town board will receive applications for the job until October 1.

We are asked this week by the Cook county forest preserve to correct an item regarding the elk in Busse Forest Preserve that was recently published in a Chicago evening newspaper. The correction—the elk will remain in the preserves as had been previously published in this paper.

It is not unusual for metropolitan dailies to be so late in the publication of stories that they have become outdated. There was one such story Sunday in a metropolitan section of a Chicago paper.

It is common knowledge many of the stories in the Chicago press are rehash of what has already been published in suburban newspapers. "The meat" is sometimes ground up with the hash.

We wish that members of the official families of all municipalities would read the article headed, "American Suburbs are in Trouble," that appears in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

It should stiffen their backbones to say "no" more often. Its reading should be just as profitable to fellows on the other side of the fence who are prone to think that municipalities should follow the give-away program practiced by Uncle Sam.

It was our privilege last week to partake of a smorgasbord of the Svithiod Singing Society, Chicago, as the guest of Paul Taege, who we supposed had nothing but German blood in his carcass.

The only things Swedish we found were the name of the club, the wonderful eats and here and there a family name. Otherwise, it could have been a Lions club meeting.

We understood a bit more when we learned that Walter Krause, another good German, also held a membership in the club. Regardless of their alleged nationality, the "Swedes" are a bunch of good fellows.

The 25 cent meters are back again on State rd., Arlington Heights, which should be welcome news to late commuters who can now find a parking stall after all the free spaces are filled by cars of the early commuters.

We are blamed for a lot of things, but a new blame came our way this week. A school patron blamed us for the double sessions at Arlington high school.

He said, "Why did you not tell your readers the truth about the coming increase in high school enrollment before the big election?" We wonder how many people would have believed us anyway.

Arlington Heights annual antique and hobby show starts next Tuesday. It draws antiquers from many towns, also husbands who are told when they kiss their wives goodbye as they leave for work, "We're eating dinner tonight at the show."

Of course, the man not only buys the dinner for 2, but also an admission ticket for the privilege. He is glad to do it, because an antique show always makes his wife happy.

Large trucks, overloaded with stone and traveling at better than 60 miles an hour leave a trail on the pavement that reminds us of the Hansel and Gretel story. We do not like the flying stones that break our windshield. Can we sue the trucking company?

Just heard a new reason why the voters of Palatine Consolidated School District No. 15 should flock to the polls Saturday. Prospect Heights is discontinuing its kindergarten due to lack of room. Other neighboring districts are being similarly hard pressed for funds.

Every friend of education should go to the polls Saturday and vote "yes." Our children are worth it.

Thousands Leap On Hospital Band Wagon

September 29 has been set as the date to reveal the site of the proposed Northwest Community Hospital Center. This paper will carry an exclusive story on the transaction, along with pictures and details regarding the location.

In order to make it convenient for persons or groups having money to turn over to the hospital fund residents living in Palatine may take the contribution directly to the office of Charles J. Walters, 35 W. Slade; Arlington Heights residents may leave donations at the office of Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell, and Mt. Prospect residents may leave their money with Carl Hammerl at the Mt. Prospect State Bank. Contributions coming from other areas may be taken to any of the above places.

Super Mart, Other Stores Hit In Weekend Burglary Splurge

Burglars swathed a path through Arlington Heights and Palatine last weekend, breaking into 5 buildings and escaping with more than $5,400 in cash.

Most dramatic of the break-ins was at Grocerland super market in the Elm shopping plaza, Arlington Heights.

The new store was entered sometime before 5 a.m. Monday and explosives used to blast open a safe containing nearly $4,445. The explosion blew out plate glass windows and littered the store interior with glass and debris.

THE GETAWAY car was believed to be a 1955 blue Ford sedan parked north of Arlington Heights high school. An officer of Locke Patrol service was parked with lights out in the high school parking lot. He noticed 2 men about 4:30 a.m. hurrying across the lot. When they were approximately 30 feet away, he hurried from the car, turned a spot light on the pair, and ordered them to halt.

The men dropped burglar tools, a bag of money, and fled in opposite directions. The officer chased one of them into the excavation for the new high school addition. Large holes forced both to stumble and fall. As the burglar scrambled out of a hole, the officer fired at him, heard the man cry, and was sure he had been wounded. He succeeded in escaping, however.

Several hours later, a small change bag containing $445 was found in the parking lot by Mrs. Hazel Faulkner, a teacher. She turned it over to Arlington Hts. police.

The $4,000 is still missing.

TWO BURGLARIES took place in Palatine.

Early Monday morning, Hiway Recreation, 945 Northwest hwy., was broken into and a safe containing $250 cash was dragged from the building. It was later found at Hintz and Arlington Heights rds., Arlington Heights, where neighbors managed to save private papers and documents strewn about it.

Dan's Motor sales, 504 S. Northwest hwy., was burglarized early Friday morning. Taken was $600 in cash.

Sometime early Saturday morning the Arlington Elevator and Coal co. in Arlington Heights was broken into, the safe and office ransacked. The firm no longer keeps money in the office, so burglars found nothing of value.

HINES LUMBER co., 604 W. Central, Mount Prospect, was burglarized during Labor Day weekend. The theft was discovered Sept. 6. An electric torch had been used to pry open a corner of the safe door and $50 in cash taken.

Police are still investigating the burglary last week of the Sealtest distribution plant, located in Rolling Meadows near Palatine.

Five Area Men Enter Army September 2

Uncle Sam called 5 more men from this area into the army September 2; according to a report received from the Selective Service System, Local Board 101, Des Plaines.

Arlington Heights men reporting were John T. Peters and Charles Foster Moore. Richard John, formerly of Arlington Heights, was also among the selectees. Stanley R. Jablonski of Mt. Prospect and William W. Hattendorf, Bartlett, were the other 2 men called into service.

Discuss Plans For Second High School

Following a full schedule of routine business, the Arlington Heights high school board of education devoted several hours of its regular meeting Monday evening to a discussion of tentative plans for the proposed building on Foundry road. Participating in the meeting were Charles and Boz Nicol, principals of the firm of Nicol and Nicol, architects and engineers, whose employment for this project was announced in Paddock Publications some weeks ago.

SUFFICIENT progress has been made to indicate that a referendum on the second building can probably be held later this fall as recommended by the Citizens Lay Advisory committee.

Other business transacted included the selection of the lighting fixtures for the addition to the Euclid street school now under construction. Purchase of Westinghouse fixtures was authorized at a cost of $2,000 less than the original contract price. Construction of the addition is proceeding on schedule.

Coffees, Card Party, Dance Latest Projects to Swell Fund

by VERA FOLKMAN

Little did this newspaper realize when it stated in its June 30 issue that it intended to keep the topic regarding the Northwest Community Hospital Center "sizzling" until the ground was broken that so many individuals and organizations would feed 'fuel to the fire" to keep it going.

Since the announcement of the Arlington Heights Nurses club on the same date that it would raise $1,000 toward the purchase of a site, there has been a steady flow of "projects" earmarked to aid the proposed hospital.

This week the Nurses club turned over a check of $1,500 to Charles J. Walters, chairman of the hospital board. To date this is the largest single contribution, but 2 other organizations are now working toward $1,000 goals to go into the hospital fund.

EVEN THE youngsters are aware of the need for a hospital and to date 9 different groups have given talent shows, plays and manned refreshment stands, turning all the proceeds over to the hospital.

Other organizations have made blanket contributions, varying from $5 to $100, while still another group has held a bake sale and raised $162.25 for the proposed hospital. The "penny pots" are also making their appearance in Palatine stores, and it is hoped the idea will spread to all the communities to be served by the hospital.

With response such as this the townships of Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove, Barrington and Schaumburg will surely have a hospital in the not too distant future.

'Kaffee Klatsches'

The series of "Kuarter Kaffee Klatsches" launched 2 weeks ago by the Palatine Nurses club are spreading like wildfire and to date 1141 ladies have had coffee at 25 cents each. Each woman who is entertained is expected to invite 5 women to her home the following week for coffee, at 25 cents each. This means that during the week a total of 5,705 ladies will be drinking coffee for the hospital if no one breaks the chain.

If this goes through, the Palatine Nurses club will be over its $1,000 goal. The coffees really serve a 2-fold purpose, money for the hospital and getting information to the general public that a hospital is in the offing and their help is needed to make it a reality.

Offshoots of the "Kaffee Klatsches" have resulted in dessert-bridge parties for men and women, at $1.50 a couple, with the money slated for the hospital; coffee being served at Pat's Paint store in Palatine to customers at 25 cents a cup, as well as to teachers in Palatine schools; and special coffees for the Palatine Methodist prayer group and church choir, everyone contributing quarters to the hospital.

The coffees have spread to surrounding communities and if the present pace continues, the Palatine Nurses club might even double its original goal.

'Card Party'

Newcomers club of Arlington Heights is now selling tickets for its benefit card party September 29, with proceeds going to the hospital fund. The event will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars new clubhouse on Northwest hwy., at 8 p.m., and the general public is invited.

Mrs. Allen Patten and Mrs. Raymond Nottoli are co-chairmen, and they said bridge, canasta and pinochle will be played during the evening. Tickets may be obtained, at $1 each, by calling Mrs. James Turner, ticket chairman, at CLearbrook 5-1396. Refreshments will be included in the price of the ticket.

'$1,000 Dance'

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981, Arlington Heights, is the first men's organization to leap on the hospital bandwagon. The club announced this week plans for a dance December 3, with a goal of $1,000 for the hospital fund.

The VFW has aided the hospital in the past by offering its club house for meetings or fund raising events at no charge. Co-chairmen of the dance are Commander Alex Angeloff and Senior Vice Commander Robert Carter. All profits raised through the sale of tickets at $1 each, plus 20 per cent of the gross receipts from the bar, will be turned over to the hospital fund.

'More Gifts'

More money was turned into the hospital fund this week. Three young boys, Michael Ruhnow, Philip Ruhnow and Paul Radtke, all of Arlington Heights, gave a play and contributed the proceeds, $3.85. Mrs. F. Webster, secretary of the Sunshine club of Arlington Heights, turned in a check for $5, a gift from the club's 13 members.

Another check for $15 was turned in by the Suburban Saintpaulia Society of Arlington Heights. The club, an affiliate of the African Violet Society of America, has 15 members, and the check was turned in by Mrs. Laddie F. Poduska, treasurer of the organization.

Allow Everyday Sprinkling, but Limit Hours

Another change was made in the sprinkling ban at a special meeting of the Arlington Heights village board Tuesday night.

Residents may now water their lawns daily from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Plans and specifications for a water main extension to E. Euclid to serve the new Methodist church were approved. The board also approved the issuance of a building permit to Howard Kamps for a commercial building on Northwest hwy.

The annexation plat for Arlington Heights Park Manor, located east of Dryden and north of Central rd., was approved by the board.

LEAGUE OF women voters was given permission to solicit for funds for the operation of the organization. License fee for a permit will be waived.

Approval was also given to the police department to go ahead with plans for a shooting range at the Ridge and Wing well site. The range will be in an enclosed building and is to be located so as not to interfere with future development of the property. The policemen are to erect the building themselves during off-hours.

Authorization was given F. Robert Buechner, village manager, to contact Eyroy Winkelman, fire chief, to get specifications for the proposed new fire engine in order that the board may advertise for bids for same. It is hoped the bids will be received at the October 18 meeting of the board.

The board held the first reading of a long ordinances. One deals with the proposed municipal garbage service and the other with new subdivisions. Several changes were suggested in each ordinance and will be incorporated before the second readings.

Weller Creek In Contempt Of Court 33 Years: Engineer

by CHARLES HAYES

The question of what to do with Weller Creek drainage district was plunged this week into even deeper confusion.

Homeowners in Mt. Prospect, faced with the possibility of flooded basements next month, could find no sign of relief in the nearly hopeless legal and financial tangle in which the drainage district is mired.

New complications were revealed this week by Edgar A. Rossiter, research engineer who drew up the creek's original profile and cross section. Legally, he is still engineer for the district, never having resigned or been discharged. The original court order appointing him as engineer still stands.

ROSSITER dutifully admitted that "the whole thing is a mess."

He pointed out, for example, that the drainage district technically has been in contempt of court on 2 separate counts for more than 33 years — and will be liable on a third count if the creek is not restored to its original state.

Restoration to original size — which Rossiter said was 30 to 32 feet wide and 6 to 9 feet deep — would cost at least $80,000 more than the preliminary estimate for cleaning and dredging offered by Consoer, Townsend and Associates, consulting engineers.

The drainage district, said Rossiter, has been in contempt of court because the commissioner — an officer of County court, which has jurisdiction over such drainage districts in Cook county — failed to report that all records, maps, and documents of the district's early years were lost. When he assumed office in 1923, only Book 1 of the proceedings, with 79 pages missing, was turned over to him.

FURTHER, the court ordered that the district must be maintained in its orignal state with the commissioners reporting to the court on July 1 of every year outlining the condition of the ditch together with an estimate of the amount necessary to keep it in repair.

In a series of 23 decisions from the state supreme court, it also became mandatory for the commissioners "to keep the creek in repair or be liable personally for intentional neglect of duty."

Rossiter insists that, if the district does not want to restore the creek to its original state, it will have to go to the state legislature and have the law changed.

He recommends that a receiver be appointed for the district, or else the court asked to appoint 3 new commissioners.

ALTHOUGH THE district could get permission from the court to levy a special assessment without a public hearing, it would do no good because it couldn't sell the bonds when the prior ones are delinquent.

The district is now in debt for some $200,000 in delinquent bonds.

"If the commissioners had followed the law, Weller Creek would be no problem today," said Rossiter. "It would be in 100 per cent working condition."

He added that if the district had been properly maintained, it is probable that all farmland between Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights would be built up.

"THE CREEK was filled in 1923," he said. "It should have been dredged then. Today it's worse. In many places, you can jump across the ditch. In others, you can scarcely see where it once flowed."

Rossiter was approached in 1912 by farmers in the Mt. Prospect area who asked him to form a drainage district. He drew up the petition, assisted in getting signatures, and prepared all the plans and profiles. He also helped draw up and let the contracts. The district started in 1917.

At that time, said the engineer, there were enough signatures to include all of Arlington Heights in the district — but the commissioners opposed the idea.

The yearly maintenance fees of the drainage district brings in about $4,000 a year. The money is used to make repairs on the creek. The village of Mount Prospect was reimbursed $2,500 as part of the $12,000 the village spent on cleaning sewers.

In order to get clear title to property, all taxes owed to the district must be paid up. With frequent real estate transactions now common, the district occasionally gets larger sums of money.

MEANWHILE, Carl H. Bowen, partner of Consoer, Townsend and Associates, said that it was not necessary to dredge the creek to a width of 30 ft. or depth of 9 ft. "It appears," he said, "that the creek was never 9 ft. deep except in a very few spots."

Although representatives of Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Des Plaines are still searching for a convenient answer to Weller Creek, one thing seemed increasingly apparent — there is no simple answer.

Building Ready For Rhodes' Big Opening

A local businessman's dreams come true today with the grand opening of the new warehouse and sales building of Rhodes, Inc., largest appliance outlet in the northwest suburbs.

The 4-day grand opening celebration climaxes a hope of Max Rhodes, president of Rhodes, Inc., that he might some day provide the northwest area with a large-scale store in which he could pass on savings to residents of this fast-growing area.

RHODES, INC., announce the opening in this week's editions of Paddock Publications with the largest single volume of advertising ever published in a Chicago community newspaper.

The 24-page special section required nearly 4 tons of paper and 2 days of extra man power in order to print.

Special features of the opening will be more than 20 prizes to be presented to visitors in the new building, located on Northwest hwy., a half mile west of Wilke rd., directly across from Arlington Park race track.

A $1000 college scholarship and an $840 Emerson color TV set are among the gifts.

Rhodes, Inc., now located in more than 1500 square feet of display space in an ultra-modern building, has grown in 9 years from humble beginnings into one of the most fabulous appliance centers in all Chicagoland.

THE APPLIANCE firm was started 9 years ago in a small filling station in Prospect Hts., soon expanding into a 3-outlet enterprise with branch stores in Arlington Heights and Palatine.

But Max Rhodes soon began to make plans for consolidating his operation under one roof, a place where he could also offer his many customers adequate free parking and a convenient location for all northwest communities.

This new warehouse and sales building, located between Palatine and Arlington Heights, was erected at great expense.

"We have spared nothing to be of service to suburban areas," said Rhodes. "This operation is the forerunner of what suburbs may expect in the future."

ALREADY CHAIN stores and Loop concerns are considering decentralization to suburban areas, such as the projected shopping center for Golf rd. in Skokie, he said.

"Rhodes, Inc., however, is home-owned, home-operated, and home-staffed," explained the president. "This is not the branch operation of a large chain concern with no roots in the local community."

Rhodes has also realized the need for longer hours to enable residents the convenience of evening and weekend shopping.

The appliance center will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily including Saturday, and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"WE HAVE done our best," declared Rhodes, "to provide northwest suburbs with the ultimate in modern, convenient, economical appliance sales and service."

Betty Furness, star of TV's Studio One and Best of Broadway, has sent her personal congratulations to Max Rhodes on the grand opening of his new store.

"Congratulations and best wishes for your continued success with Westinghouse products," said Miss Furness. "We'll all be working for you and will bring only the best values to your community."

Another Rand Rd. Auto Tragedy; 3 In Hospital

Three persons were seriously injured Saturday night in another of a long string of auto accidents which plague Rand rd.

Taken to Resurrection hospital were Michael Reardon, 16, of 4246 N. Richmond, Chicago, driver of 1 car; Robert Flickinger, 17, of 422 N. Monticello, Chicago, passenger in Reardon's car; and Geraldine Perna, 22, of 7025 S. Campbell, Chicago, passenger in a car driven by Connie Perna, 35, of 1717 N. 23d ave., Melrose Park.

Cook county police said that Miss Perna, driving southeast, veered into the inside lane of oncoming traffic in order to avoid hitting 2 cars in front of her. Reardon, heading northwest, was unable to avert a collision, and struck the Perna car on the right front side.

The wreck took place at 8:30 p.m on U. S. 12 near Route 83, where 2 persons were killed and 5 injured in a Labor Day accident. Arlington Body and Fender cleared the wreckage.

Doubt U.S. Will Lease Land To Restrict Farm Output

An agriculture spokesman in Chicago this week discounted a report that the government would launch a multi-million dollar plan to restrict farm output by leasing land from farmers.

The proposal, if accepted, would affect Cook County farmers.

It was announced Friday that the plan is designed to strengthen dropping farm prices by cutting top-heavy food production and surpluses. The program would cost Uncle Sam about $500 million a year.

THE DEPARTMENT spokesman told Paddock Publications Monday that the Issac Walton League, a conservation group, made the original proposal for such a plan.

This is how it would operate:

About 40 million acres of privately held farm land would be rented by the government at an average price of more than $10 an acre. Farmers who received the rental payments would be required to plant soil-building crops on the acres leased by the government and they would be forbidden to use the land to grow crops for home consumption or marketing.

The 40 million acres represent land that will be diverted by government acreage allotments from production of the 6 "basic" crops — wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

CONGRESSIONAL action would be necessary in order to implement such a program, advised the agriculture official here. Although he insisted any such major change in the farm program is a "long way off," he warned that any such plan would be nation wide and include Cook county.

He also said that Secretary Benson, alarmed at falling farm prices, is working to prevent further decreases and this proposal "is probably only one of them."

The government now is enforcing acreage controls in an effort to curb overproduction. The administration has found, however, that its control scheme works badly because farmers use land that has been diverted from the six basics to grow other crops.

Cook county farmers who either favor or oppose the leasing proposal may make their opinion felt Nov. 21 when the Senate agriculture committee holds hearings in Chicago on farm questions.

Mrs. Church To Be Guest At Open House

The people of Arlington Heights and all neighboring communities will have an opportunity to hear and meet Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church, member of congress, representing the 13th District of Illinois at a public assembly and open house to be held at the Arlington Heights Recreation Park fieldhouse, September 25 at 2 p.m.

The primary purpose of having this meeting is to bring before the people of this area an outstanding working member in congress and for this district to hear and meet with her personally on matters of congressional legislation and public welfare of the 13th district, especially for those who care enough to want to benefit with first hand knowledge and broader understanding of our present government and its working leaders.

The campaign to place a flag in every home began some time ago and is still continuing. Flag and bracket at $3.50 may be purchased from Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson at Willson and Florence real estate office and Mrs. Kenneth Hartman at the Lantern Grill, 15 E. Miner.

All profits from the sale of flags go to the organizations that helped the Womans club with the flag project.

The case of the missing parakeet has been solved with all parties concerned very happy. Lorraine Gustafson, while on an inspection tour of her daughter's new house being constructed on Hickory st. noticed what she first thought was a bluebird perched on a tree. However upon closer inspection the little mite proved to be a parakeet. Carefully she picked up the sleeping bird and took it home and immediately set out to try to find the owners. Several days and dozens of phone calls later the owner came to claim his pet who had disappeared the day before it was found. Alan Carosella was the lad who had been searching for his lost pet and finally found it in the Gustafson home getting well acquainted with their parakeet, Peter Potter.

Couples are still being sought to join the bridge tournament in Eastwood. Groups meet once a month, except in December, with 3 other couples at a time set by the hostess that is convenient for those in the group. Eighteen hands of bridge are played in an evening, after which light refreshments are served.

Being an excellent bridge player is not one of the qualifications, those who are average or below, far outnumber the superior players. Those interested may call Doris Travis at CL 3-1932 or Mary Johnson at CL 3-9506 for more details.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Orgler are the new neighbors who moved into their new bi-level home this summer at 732 N. Dryden. The Orglers, who formerly lived on N. Beverly, have 2 children, Jerry, 10, and Barbara, 8, who attend St. James school.

Formerly of Washington Court House, Ohio, and now residing at 306 N. Brighton are new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alford. Mr. Alford is associated with Montgomery Ward and Co., in the purchasing department.

Living in their new home at 710 N. Beverly since late in July are Mr. and Mrs. Fay Caughron and their children, Bob, 3, and Cathy, 7 weeks old. The family moved to Arlington from Chicago. Mr. Caughron is an assistant cameraman with Wilding Picture Productions.

Everyone hopes these new families in Eastwood will enjoy living in the area, as much as they will enjoy having them as neighbors.

interests of better government and peace.

In 1939 she accompanied her husband to the Interparliamentary Union Conference at Oslo, Norway, to which he was a delegate from the United States congress. In 1949, she spent 4 months in Europe on special research work, including a study of displaced persons' camps and German youth activities under the U. S. army. She also made a study of conditions in Great Britain, particularly those resulting from restrictions imposed by the British Labor government.

BESIDES being a member of the foreign affairs committee of the house, Mrs. Church for 4 years served actively on the committee on government operations. During that time, she was ranking Republican member of the subcommittee on executive and legislative re-organization, and took an active part in the subcommittee on military operations, which was charged with the investigation of everything within that branch except military tactics. Always actively interested in the implementation of the recommendations of first Hoover commission, established to increase efficiency and economy in government, she has currently taken the lead in seeking prompt action on the new plans for re-organization, brought forth by the second Hoover commission. Last spring, she introduced 65 bills to implement the recommendations.

She also sponsored and pushed to successful enactment in the 83rd Congress, H.R. 116, bearing her name, a national law prohibiting bootleg fireworks.

One of 6 Republican women members of the house, her majorities in national elections have received much comment: in 1952, the last Presidential election, she was re-elected by a majority of 107,628 votes.

How Public Service Company keeps your electric bill down—
(while everything else goes up)

Even though most things have doubled in price, a kilowatt-hour of electricity actually costs you less today than 25 years ago.

Here at Public Service Company, one way we keep your electric bill low is by planning 10 to 20 years ahead. We test these plans on our big network calculator—a sort of electric "answer man"—which helps us decide where to build new power plants and substations to serve you at the lowest cost.

So today, although you're using far more work-saving electricity than 25 years ago, you're getting a lot more for your money—almost twice as much, in fact.

Pastor Ready To Tell Real Story Of Israeli-Arab Crisis

An exclusive, eye-witness report on one of the world's most sensitive trouble spots will be made to readers of Paddock Publications beginning with next week's editions.

Rev. Birger Dahl, pastor of First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, will have published next week the first in a series of special articles telling of his tour in the Near East.

He returned last week after 44 days overseas.

THE CLERGYMAN accompanied a group of businessmen, bankers, and teachers on an extensive trip through Lebanon, Egypt, Jordan, Israel, Syria, and Turkey. They interviewed and talked with authorities who explained the current crisis.

Palestine was covered north to south and east to west in automobiles with native lecturers and educated guides to explain and interpret local problems.

Rev. Dahl personally talked with Arabs, university professors, students, and "men of the street" to develop insight into the Israeli-Arab crisis brewing in the Near East.

He has returned with a story that hasn't been told the American public.

ARMED WITH facts, details, and an objective evaluation of conditions in Palestine, Rev. Dahl is prepared to pierce with truth the curtain of propaganda flooding this country.

Traveling by plane, automobile, donkey, railroad, camel, and boat, Rev. Dahl also traveled through France, Italy, Greece, Switzerland, Germany, and England.

Radio Cowboy To Spark Attendance Campaign At Ev. Free Church

DOLPH HEWITT

The big fall round-up contest of the Bible school of Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church will begin Sunday and will feature Dolph and Ruth Hewitt, singing cowboy and cowgirl of radio fame.

The contest, which will run for 7 Sundays, is designed to double the enrollment and attendance of the school, which currently shows 200 on its rolls. The contest will have a cowboy flavor throughout, with each class bearing the name and brand of a real western ranch. Valuable awards to the "cowhands" who bring in the most newcomers to the school will add incentive to the contest. For the first Sunday of the contest, September 18, all boys and girls in the school have been asked to come dressed in their own Western garb with their "shootin' irons" to be checked at the door.

The Hewitts, who will be present the first Sunday only, are celebrated artists in the realm of western and country music. They have appeared in numerous Western music festivals, have had their own radio program, and are currently performing over station WLS on various programs. In recent years, they have contributed their time and talent to church work.

The Bible school of the Evangelical Free church is currently meeting at 9:45 a.m. each Sunday morning in the auditorium of the North school, 410 N. State rd. The current contest is being held in anticipation of moving into new and larger quarters when the Evangelical Free church takes possession of the buildings of the Methodist church at Dunton and St. James sts., Arlington Heights. Former Pastors To Visit Here During Presbyterian Centennial

Three former pastors of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will return to participate in centennial observance week, as the church they once served commemorates its 100th anniversary the week of October 9-16.

These men include the Rev C. Victor Brown, who was pastor here from March 1, 1947, to February 1, 1955; Rev. Herman A. Kossack, who was in the pulpit here from 1926 to 1940, and Rev. Herman G. McCoy, who served the congregation here from 1940 to 1945.

REV. BROWN is now pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Gary, Ind.; Rev. Kossack is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Iron River, Wis., and Rev. McCoy is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Highland, Ind.

Stuart C. Saul, acting pastor of the Arlington Heights church from February 1 to April 30, 1955 was also invited, but he will be unable to be present. He is now located at the First Presbyterian church at Kewanee, Ill.

Rev. Brown will not only be present for special centennial events, but he has also accepted an invitation to deliver the sermon at services on the morning of Sunday, October 16, which will formally observe the centennial anniversary. To assure accommodations for all planning to attend, there will be 3 services on that day: the first at 8 a.m., the second at 9:30, and the third at 11 o'clock.

ANOTHER major feature of the centennial observance will be the presentation of an historical play highlighting the major events in the growth of the church. Written by Mrs. Robert Hawley, the play is titled, "The First One Hundred Years." It is being directed by Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, of the Village Theatre, and will be presented several times during the centennial week, with exact days and times of performance to be announced later.

Also planned by the centennial committee, which is headed by Carl P. Clare, is the publication of a special 100-year history of the church in booklet form.

Rev. Keller To Leave Christ Church For New Work In Minnesota

Having been pastor of the new Christ Evangelical church, Rohlwing road and Glencoe, Palatine, only since June, 1954, Rev. John Keller has with reluctance asked for and received a release from the congregation. He has accepted a call from the executive committee of the American Lutheran church to enter a new work of the church with alcoholics under the direction of the Lutheran Welfare society of Minnesota.

For a period of 2 or more years he will be chaplain of the alcholics at the Wilmar state hospital, Willmar, Minn., which is the alcoholic treatment center for the state, and has an AA unit. It is hoped that a deeper understanding of the alcoholic and the problem will be reached and that the church will be able eventually to offer more effective help for these people. After the period of special training, Pastor Keller will have the responsibility of sharing effectively whatever has been learned with the pastors and the church.

Christ Lutheran has extended a call to Rev. Ralph Hanusa, Metamora, Ohio, who has been serving a mission congregation there since his graduation from Wartburg seminary, Dubuque, Iowa, in 1953. Under Pastor Hanusa's leadership this congregation has reached the point where it is giving consideration to becoming self-supporting on January 1, 1956.

Pastor Keller and his family will leave Palatine the end of this month.- During the vacancy the congregation will be served by Rev. Walter Kloetzkli, director of Urban Church Strategy, National Lutheran council.

January 1, 1955, the congregation became self-supporting after being a mission for only 18 months. Its new church and parsonage are completed, the church having been dedicated June 12, 1955. Christ Lutheran represents all National Lutheran Council church bodies in the Palatine and Rolling Meadows area. (AP

Bensenville Home Festival Sunday

Churches of the Evangelical and Reformed denomination in this area help to maintain the Bensenville Home, whose annual festival and 60th Anniversary will be observed on the grounds of the Home at Bensenville on Sunday, September 18.

Brightly-trimmed outdoor stands have been erected along the campus walks, and they will open at 11:30 to sell candies, ice cream, pop, sandwiches, coffee, novelties and handwork to the thousands of visitors expected to share in the celebration. Fresh fruits and vegetables, donated by friends in rural areas, are offered for sale at the Country Fair Booth.

TO MEET the challenge of the need for providing care for aged, whose population has grown tremendously in recent years, the Bensenville Home has established a well-equipped nursing home on the Bensenville campus. Believing that residents are better served near their own homes and friends where they feel accepted and needed, the Bensenville Home also opened a home for aged at Freeport in January of 1953, and in July 1955 the Peotone Bensenville Home was dedicated.

The institution also maintains a foster home program for children, and in August completed its 60th year of continuous Christian service to elderly people and little children in need of care provided by the Home. This 60th anniversary festival will be highlighted by special worship services at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Dr. L. W. Goebel as the principal speaker. The Rev. Dr. Goebel is a past president of the Evangelical and Reformed church and is well known as a leader in the world council of churches.

BENSENVILLE Church Choirs will combine their voices to furnish music for the occasion. Greetings will be conveyed by Dr. Wm. Rest on behalf of the North Illinois synod of which he is president. The Rev. Glenn G. Gumm, pastor of St. Paul's church, Palatine, will participate in the religious rites. The Rev. Mr. Gumm is president of the Home board of directors. An interesting program is being planned to take place at 4:30, and the Bensenville municipal band directed by Lynn C. Huffman will give a concert at 5:30.

A BUFFET dinner will be served in the Children's Dining Room and Gymnasium from 11:30 to 2:30 p.m. Balloon ascensions throughout the afternoon and early evening will provide a colorful spectacle that all festival visitors will enjoy, and for the special entertainment of the youngsters there will be pony rides.

Ample parking facilities are available on the Bensenville Home property. Money secured from the Festival is used to maintain services and care for the aged and children.

Mrs. George Bromann, 256 N. Ashland ave., Palatine, is a member of the Home Board of Directors, and also serves on the festival committee. (B5

Urge Publicity Chairmen To Attend Clinic

Paddock Publications strongly urges all publicity chairmen, together with the president of their respective organization, to attend the ninth annual publicity clinic to be held Thursday, Oct. 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Great hall of the First Methodist church, 1630 Hinmann ave., Evanston.

This will be an unusual opportunity for news writers to meet and hear top educators, journalists and writers who will conduct the clinic. Each person attending will receive a publicity handbook which covers such subjects as how to be a good publicity chairman, establishing good press relations, what is news in your club, what is a feature story, how to prepare good copy, hints on writing interesting copy, how to be professional about pictures, placing good publicity stories and promoting the "special event."

Tickets for the clinic are $3.50 and include admission to all sessions and a coffee break. They may be purchased at the door or secured in advance by calling Mrs. Ronald Cramer, UNiversity 4-7909. The clinic is sponsored by the North Shore chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in journalism.

Paddock Publications would like to see all local clubs and organizations include the clinic in their budgets and send various officers and members each year.

New Style Book

Publicity writers are also urged to write, phone or drop in to Paddock's office in Arlington Hts. for a free copy of Paddock's new style book which covers the style of capitalization, punctuation, abbreviations and the use of figures as used in Paddock newspapers. This booklet also covers common writing errors usually made by untrained writers. It also covers postal restrictions and the use of photographs.

The combination of the publicity hand book obtained at the clinic and the style book from Paddock Publications should be of inestimable help to all publicity writers.

Name High School Cheerleaders For Current Sport Season

Simone Malchow, Linda Golle and Judy Koeppen were selected as freshman cheerleaders at Arlington Heights high school in competitive tryouts last week. Coaches and physical education teachers made the selection.

Sophomore and varsity cheerleaders were selected last spring at similar tryouts. They are as follows: sophomores — Martha Gatts, Vicki Mogren, and Sandy Powell; varsity — Donna Raffay, Judy Johnston, Judy Clabaugh, Judy Peterson, Judy Luehring, and Pat Konchar.

A recent change in the cheerleader's club constitution provides permanent appointments for those elected cheerleaders three years in a row. Thus, Judy Johnston, Judy Clabaugh and Judy Peterson, juniors who are entering their third year as cheerleaders, will not have to try out next year.

Three of the present varsity cheerleaders did not make the squad until their junior year.

Pat Konchar was elected head cheerleader, and Judy Luehring secretary at the organization meeting last spring. Larry Jenness, speech teacher, is faculty advisor and coach of the group. (ACM

The bride's mother wore a teal blue lace dress over taffeta with old rose accessories while the groom's mother was in blue lace over taffeta with blue feather hat, black shoes and bag. Both mothers wore pink rose corsages.

Seventy-five guests attended the reception held at the Park Place hotel after which Mr. Bracke and his bride left on a Florida honeymoon. They also plan to visit some of the Caribbean islands.

"You've never seen such a high, light and heavenly cake," was the enthusiastic comment made by a neighbor of Mrs. Paul Weinrich's regarding her Yellow Chiffon Cake. "It just rises and rises and rises!"

Recommended as a good cook by several housewives, Mrs. Weinrich was busily canning 64 quarts of dill pickles when I called. Although a career woman and mother of two Mrs. Weinrich nonetheless finds time for her favorite hobby, cooking. And she never worries about unexpected guests either, for her freezer is always well stocked.

The chiffon cake we are featuring today freezes well, too, with the icing. In addition to being delicate and delicious, this cake is versatile.

"We never tire of it because I vary the flavorings," explained Mrs. Weinrich. She uses lemon or orange, sometimes including the rind, or vanilla. And she frosts the cake with a butter icing, using the same flavoring as that in the cake.

Mrs. Weinrich has been making this cake for years without one failure. And the testimony of her neighbors is proof of its superb quality.

The Weinrichs live at 825 S. Vail in Arlington Heights. Their two children are Ronald, 18, and Nadean, 15.

Mrs. Weinrich is employed by Grigsby-Allison Co. and is a member of Faith Ladies Society.

Yellow Chiffon Cake

1½ cups sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Sift dry ingredients together.
5 egg yolks (at room temperature)
½ cup Wesson Oil
¾ cup water
1 teaspoon flavoring (vanilla, lemon or orange)
Combine above and add to dry ingredients.
8 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Beat until very stiff. Fold egg yolk - flour mixture into egg whites.

Bake in 10-inch tube pan for 55 minutes in 325 degree oven. Turn oven up to 350 degrees and bake an additional 15 minutes. Invert to cool.

Frost with a plain butter icing, using the same flavoring as that in the cake, or a chocolate frosting.

Wedgewood Terrace

The James Salisburys

Mr. and Mrs. James Salisbury decided that the broad spaces of a home in Wedgewood would be more to their liking than staying in Chicago (which has been Mrs. Salisbury's home all her life) and they followed Mrs. Salisbury's brother and family out here some two years later. They moved into 310 Golf lane, a new house, the latter part of August whereas the Joseph De Pasquales entered their home here in April, 1953. Mr. Salisbury is originally from a smaller place--Maple City, near Traverse City, Mich.

The Salisburys are not completely settled in their new home yet because they are finishing much of the work themselves. They have been putting in glass, laying linoleum, staining and painting--to mention a few of the tasks they took upon themselves.

Little Peter isn't bothered by the work, however. Just 2 shortly after they moved in, he smiles and talks his way through any situation and is quite understandable for a boy so young.

For diversion during the infrequent times the Salisburys go out now, they particularly enjoy square dancing.

An inspiring sight at Wilson school on mornings when the weather is pleasant are the opening exercises held at the outdoor flag pole by the entire student body. These were initiated in order that all might become easily familiar with the singing of the National Anthem. Since Wilson no longer has an indoor assembly hall, the outdoor ceremony seemed to be the most practical way to acquaint new students with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Members of the Wilson school safety patrol look forward to a visit to the General Motors Powerama being held on the Chicago lake shore through September 25. Dennis Rice is captain of this year's patrol, and Warren Walter and Allen Crowe are his lieutenants. Other members of the patrol are J. Kottke, Jan Meyer, Carl Mossa, Ron East, R. Huebner and Edward Natzke.

The patrol has been doing an exceptionally fine job of safeguarding Wilson students so far this school year.

School Under The Sun

They Are, Too, Irish

There will be a bit of Irish associated with the Fighting Irish football team of 1955. Of the 77 young men who reported back for the opening of fall practice on September 1, a total of 31 are either of Irish or part-Irish descent. This amounts to 40%. And of course there is always the head coach, Terence Patrick Brennan. (SP

The Twosome club of Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, held a "roundup" on the church lawn Saturday night with 43 members and guests present.

All were invited to "park your shootin' 'arns" then sent through a "brandin' stashun." The few who did not wear western dress were sent to the "hoosegow."

A tape recorder with western music furnished background for the special games planned by Irving Johnson and Ross Meredith. Dr. Dreikurs was born in Vienna, Austria, and subsequently graduated from the University of Vienna as an M.D. In that city he organized psychiatric social work and mental hygiene clinics, conducted clinics for child guidance, for alcoholics and potential suicides, using the group approach.

Our Saviour Church Acquires Building Site On N. State Rd.

A 2-acre tract of land has been purchased by Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, as a site for its future church building, according to Donald Petelle, chairman of the property committee of the church council. Located on the southwest corner of N. State rd. and Olive street, the property extends west to Evergreen st. and will provide space for an offstreet parking area in addition to the church and educational building.

The Rev. George H. Hoog, organizer of the mission congregation, worked with Mr. Petelle in surveying Arlington Heights for possible church locations. The purchase of the present site was approved by the congregation at a special meeting August 14.

Since its initial worship service in November, 1954, the congregation has been worshiping in Dryden school, Dryden and Rockwell sts. Present plans call for the start of building late in 1956.

Victorian Bedroom To Be Featured At Antique Show

A Victorian bedroom, completely decorated with pieces of 80 years ago, will be set up on the stage of the dining room at the 12th annual antique and hobby show to be held September 20, 21 and 22 at the Methodist Meeting house, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Robert Marsh has loaned a matching bed, dresser and washstand. To cover the bed there is an unusual quilted coverlet with lace over it that was brought from England in the 1880's. A complete set of pink and white ironstone will be used on the washstand. An unusual item is the framed wedding certificate of the period with the pictures of the bridal party. Velvet draperies and a love seat finish the setting.

Interesting in a year when fapoint floral pictures and exquisite fashion are the 6 Indian handloomed bridal veils. These have been decorated in coin silver and gold in meaningful embroidery designs. Other handwork is the collection of idols and carved pieces from China. Outstanding here is a pair of cobre candlesticks.

Women always especially enjoy the china and glassware exhibits. Included will be teacups from all over the world, tables set in American quilt pattern crystal, Swedish and Danish ware on a handloomed Swedish cloth and modern Japanese ware. The newly-organized Arlington Heights garden club will display flower arrangments in antique vases.

Mrs. Raymond Kirk, who has won a national prize for her watercolors, will exhibit examples among which are lovely portraits of her boys. Other artwork will be enameling on copper and shellcraft.

St. Philip's Invite Public To Auction And Dinner At Inverness

The parish of St. Philip's Episcopal church, Palatine, is planning an auction, a dinner and a lot of fun starting at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 17.

An attempt will be made to meet a quota of $1,133 for the "Builders of Christ Campaign" which is under Diocesan sponsorship. It was from this source that St. Philip's was the beneficiary for many gratuities in the establishment of the parish.

The committee has secured donations of thousands of dollars worth of valuable items such as cars, jewelry, electrical appliances, furs and other items. Many will be auctioned off. Two automobiles, a new mink stole, a black opal, Dormeyer mixer, blendor and friwell, a case of French champagne, Air Guide barometer, 25 lb. Tillamook cheese and other items are to be given away.

The auction partly will be held at the home of Carl and Joan Buenler just off Palatine road on Inverway, Inverness. The dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. There will be entertainment.

Mrs. George F. Gschwindt, general chairman, is being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burhler, Mr. and Mrs. Billow and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Moore and others.

Fur Fashions To Highlight Newcomers Meeting Thursday

Arlington Heights Newcomers club will hold its regular monthly evening meeting this evening, September 15, at the field house at 8 p.m. A fashion show of furs, presented by George Uhrek of Chicago, is to highlight the evening after the business meeting. A coffee hour will follow. Mrs. Ted Fonfara, membership chairman, and her committee will be on hand to welcome all new and prospective members at this September meeting, which is being especially devoted to membership. All newcomers to Arlington Heights with residence of a year or less, interested in joining the club, are asked to call Mrs. Fonfara at CL 3-6345 for further information.

Newcomers' bowling, for members only, is scheduled to start Thursday, Sept. 22 at 1 p.m., and will be in session every Thursday afternoon thereafter. The bowling will be held at Highway Recreation in Palatine. The bowling chairman, Mrs. Ed Zelsmann, asks anyone interested who hasn't yet signed up, to call her at CL 3-8155.

A picnic for members of Newcomers is slated for September 24, at 5 p.m. at Deer Grove. This is a potluck affair, and each couple will bring their own beverage and plates, plus the dish for which they have already signed. Approximately 30 couples are signed up at present. Mrs. Charles Hultgren is chairman for this affair. Members who wish more information are urged to call Mrs. Hultgren at CL 3-8079.

Bob Bishop will auction off the fancy lunch boxes which will be designed to please the lucky bidder. Later in the evening, around the campfire the singing and fun will be directed by Mr. and Mrs. Maynard W. Whitelaw and Mrs. and Mrs. John Newhard.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Evrell Plank, and Mr. and Mrs. Earle D. Strehlow, officers of the club, are making all arrangements for this first club activity of the year.

In case of inclement weather the program will take place at the church. (AM

Teacher-Parent Council Has First Meeting Sept. 22

Parents of students at Arlington Heights high school are invited to the Teacher-Parent council meeting September 22, 8:15 p.m.

It is not planned to have an open house for parents at the high school this year, but the program planned for this first meeting will offer parents an opportunity to get acquainted with one another, get some insight into the purpose of this new organization and discuss some of the problems of "high school living." There are no dues to join the Teacher-Parent council.

All parents will convene in the boys' gym at the beginning of the meeting which will be opened by Fred Siegel of Arlington Heights, nominating committee chairman. He will direct the procedure which will formally put the council into action under its chosen board of directors. Charles Baker, president of the council, will then preside and Harold Slichenmyer, superintendent of the high school, will be asked to explain the council and its workings.

It is expected that this part of the meeting will take a brief time and parents will split up into groups, according to the year their son or daughter has reached in school.

"Freshman" parents will see a movie called, "A Way With the Student," and Larry Jenness will narrate the film. Following for these parents will be a panel discussion on topics suggested by the seeing of the moving picture.

A panel quiz on tardiness and absence from school will be the first part of the program for the parents of sophomores. Eugene Oliver will then lead a discussion on counseling for parents and students.

The junior-senior group will hear Wade L. Eberly, principal of the Grant Community high school in Fox Lake, speak on the subject of having shifts in a school. In his high school they have gone through one year of having students attend school in shifts.

First vice-president of the council is George Laubenheimer, Mount Prospect; second vice-president, Mrs. Jack Reinsma, Prospect Heights; secretary, R. H. Barbour, Arlington Heights. Chairmen of the various committees include: Mrs. Frank Zeman, Mount Prospect, program; Mrs. Robert Phillips, Arlington Heights, hospitality; Mrs. Albert Peters, Arlington Heights, health; Joseph Clemens, Prospect Heights, publicity; freshman class, Mrs. Charles J. Pratt, Arlington Heights; sophomore, Mrs. Paul Fellingham, Arlington Heights; junior-senior, Mrs. Edwin Stevens, Mount Prospect.

Nuance (subtle variation). Pronounce nu-ans, u as in use, a as in ah, accent first syllable.

Boys May Register Until Saturday For Junior Cotillion

Boys registration for Arlington Heights Junior Cotillion was held Saturday but due to other activities in town it was not as successful as officers of the club had hoped. It is not necessary for the boys to register themselves; either of their parents may sign up for them. The $10 fee is payable at that time.

All mothers of seventh and eighth grade students could help by reminding boys they can register all week at the home of Mrs. Ted Fonfara, 303 N. State rd.

To stop any misunderstanding that this is a dance club for couples only, officers report they feel it is more fun for both boys and girls if the number of students are close to the same number. Unless more boys register by September 17 it may be necessary to limit the girls' registration.

The committee has just obtained the high school cafeteria for the Christmas dance and are looking forward to a successful year.

When it comes to Protection
. . . it pays to have the BEST

Evidently this wife doesn't believe in taking any chances.

It's unwise to take chances with insurance, too. Dependable insurance is one thing you can't buy when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to get better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The fact that understanding the Allness of God, Spirit, frees man from the idolatry of materialism will be set forth at Christian Science services this Sunday, September 18.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" is the Golden Text from I Corinthians (10:14): "My dearly beloved, flee from idolatry."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (475:3): "To infinite Spirit there is no matter,—all is Spirit, divine Principle and its idea."

Scriptural selections will include the following from Isaiah (42:5, 8): "Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein: . . . I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

News Of Prospect Meadows

Association Meeting

At the September 8 meeting of Owners association it was agreed to let a contract for tiling the Forrest ave. draining ditch with 12-inch tile to the Till Construction co. and the work should begin sometime within the next week. The storm water drainage will be connected to the Weller Creek drainage system.

Also at the meeting 2 new officers were appointed: Glen Ehlke, to succeed Archie MacLean as secretary and Fabian Myslinski to succeed Paul Goodwin as director of the northwest district.

The attendance at the past meeting was very poor and Mr. Berchmans, president of the association hopes that the Meadowites will keep th date of the next meeting, October 13, in mind and that everyone will make an effort to attend.

Belated Labor Day News

Bud and Jane Redeen of Oriole lane spent the Labor day weekend with Jane's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ploetz in Wausau Wis. The Redeens are new residents, having moved here in July, and they like their home in the Meadows very much.

Marge and Bob Blim and their son, Bruce, and Elaine and Vern Mars of Chicago spent a pleasant weekend in a cabin at Volo, enjoying the activities on the lake there.

Unexpected guests, numbering about 20 relatives and friends, began dropping in on Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Sunday and a very pleasant reunion occurred without any planning. Guests arrived from Chicago, Milwaukee, Long Lake and Skokie and everyone stayed to spend the day, playing badminton, enjoying dinner and just having a wonderful time.

A Word Of Caution

The time has come again to impress the importance of keeping children from playing around a new house while it is under construction. There was quite a serious accident on the lot of the new house being built at 930 Prospect Manor when Ricky Jenkins, daughter of Virginia and Dick Jenkins, stepped on some broken glass there and cut her foot severely. A trip to the hospital was required to stitch the 3-inch cut. Everyone was happy to hear that the cut is healing satisfactorily and Ricky will be on her feet soon again. The accident kept Ricky from entering kindergarten last week with the rest of her friends from the neighborhood.

Whooping Cough

The whooping cough has kept Patty Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Tucker of Bob-O-Link, from entering school with the rest of the children. The doctor diagnosed her cough as whooping cough August 29 and it appears that Patty will have to wait another week before taking her place in Miss Browning's room at the North school.

Everyone in the Meadows was saddened by the news of the sudden death last Thursday morning of Ronald Long. Ronald and Bernice had made a trip to Denver and while there Ronnie became ill and was confined to a hospital. A heart attack proved fatal. The interment will be at Ames, Iowa.

Ronald will long be remembered by the many friends he made while living in Prospect Meadows. Sincere condolences are extended to his wife, Bernice, and their children, David, Richard and Diane.

A Fire

A fire in the motor of an automobile brought the Prospect Heights volunteer fire department to 605 Bob-O-Link rd., home of Bob and Marge Blim, about 10 a.m. last Sunday morning. James Duffek, brother-in-law of Bob Blim, had his 1950 Dodge parked in Bob's garage, The car had not been in use for about 3 days so Mr. Duffek started the car to charge the battery. He left the motor running and turned to help Bob with something when they noticed smoke coming from under the hood. Bob called the fire department, who came out almost immediately after the call and the fire was soon under control, but it was too late to save the motor from being completely damaged.

Entertaining

Ethel and Ray Larson and their children, Linda, Terry and Raymond Jr., were happy to welcome Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Larson of St. Petersburg, Fla.,Friday, when they arrived for a visit here. Ray's father was a former Chicago park district policeman before his retirement 3 years ago, at which time he and his wife moved to Florida to make their home in St. Petersburg. Sunday Raymond Nelson celebrated his second birthday and was fortunate to have all his grandparents present as Ethel's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haas of Des Plaines, came out to join them on the big day.

Thursday of last week Anne Incinelli entertained Marie Keller and Minnie Craig, former coworkers of hers from the Club Aluminum Co. Also out for the afternoon were Mrs. Keller's son and his family. They spent a pleasant afternoon catching up on news about each other and reminiscing about the days spent working together.

Chuck and Lorrie Brazeau entertained friends Saturday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Porter of Melrose Park and Mrs. Porter's parents, who are enroute to California from Wisconsin, drove to the Meadows. Also visiting that day was Lorrie's sister, Mrs. Marge Murray of Evanston, who came out to enjoy the company of her sister and her family. Mrs. Murray's husband is in service and is at present stationed in Korea.

Visiting Here

Ruby and Stan Polly are enjoying a visit from Stan's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Polly, who arrived last Thursday from Waupaca Wis.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Holleran entertained John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Holleran, and his sister Mrs. Rita Jensen and her son, Gregory.

Rosemary Vosburgh enjoyed a visit from her sister, Mrs. Kocame from Oak Park to spend a day with her last week.

Reunion

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kunz, of Rand rd., Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Kunz, whose family name was Liepelt, is one of 7 brothers and sisters who enjoy getting together annually, some coming from Mundelein, some from Prairie View and some from Chicago. Also included in the group are the children who bring the total number of guests up to 25.

Another type of reunion was held at the home of Joyce and Ray LeBrun Sunday. The group consisted of 6 couples brought together through friendship the girls carried on from their highschool days. Now all the girls are married and have families and the group has increased over the years with the addition of 11 children. Some of the couples had not seen each other for 4 years as 2 girls and their families now live in Wis.

Vacations

Kay Sepke and her oldest daughter, Sandy Lee, spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fetter in Albuqurque, N.M. While she was away, her 2 other children, Shyrrel Katherine and David, stayed in Chicago with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sepke Sr. Sunday, Art Sepke was happy to have his whole family back together again in the Meadows.

A weekend in the city with his grandma and grandpa, Mr. and Mrs. Fredricksen, was enjoyed by Craig Schroeder, son of Edith and Chuck Schroeder. A special treat was dining out with his grandparents and going to see "Cinerama."

Richard and Betty Halabrin will be spending next weekend in Las Vegas thanks to Richard's success in the Ford Motor Co. promotion contest. Richard is employed by George Poole, the Ford dealer in Mt. Prospect. Their trip includes transportation to Las Vegas via United air lines. Association News

The news is out. Johnson and Peterson announced at the association meeting that plans have been made for a Halloween costume dance Friday, October 21. The dance is for members and their guests and all attending are requested to be in costume. Bob Scott and his Pastels have been engaged for the evening to play at the Hartmann house on Milwaukee ave. just south of Dundee rd. and better music you'll have to go a long way to hear. This group is not just good, they're terrific. Johnson and Peterson guarantee you won't be able to keep your feet still. Highlight of the evening will be the awarding of a prize to the couple in the most original costume, the musicians will be the judges. Those old bed sheets you have been saving can be converted into some pretty authentic ghost costumes! Better start your brain aw'hirling to think of what your costume will be, better start the needles sewing - tempis fugit - and better phone for your baby sitter now - this is one social event you surely won't want to miss, it promises to be packed with fun from start to finish. If you have any questions about the affair phone either Wally Johnson at CLearbrook 3-8025 or Don Peterson at CLearbrook 3-8034.

Do you hate to see the summer come to an end? Well now we are entering the season known as Indian Summer and what is Indian Summer without an old fashioned hay rack ride with a wiener roast afterwards? That's exactly what's on the list for Saturday night, October 8. There will be no special bulletin advertising this event, therefore consider this article your personal invitation to don your jeans, sweaters and old shoes, and come along for a real honest-to-goodness hay rack ride and songfest. If you are interested please phone either of the above phone numbers to make your reservation. Don't put it off, do it now, deadline for reservations is September 21. If there aren't enough couples interested in this type of entertainment the plans will be cancelled and it sure would be a shame to waste that fat old harvest moon and beautiful cool weather.....do I hear the phones a ringing?

Bridge Tournament

Last call for bridge players - couples interested in playing in the round robin the first Friday of every month beginning with the first Friday of October and ending the first Friday of May please phone John Coward at Clearbrook 3-5891.

Association News

Election of the board of directors took place at the September 6 meeting. After the votes were tabulated, Bill Willy, election committee chairman, announced that the members of the association had elected John Coolidge, John Coward, Fred Mensch, and Don Peterson to the board of directors. Congratulations fellows!

John (Red) Funk of 1133 N. Beverly has been appointed membership chairman of the association. Red has his eye out for new members so if you haven't joined as yet be sure to phone him at Clearbrook 3-3980. Keep in mind that there is a heavy schedule of social events coming up and they are for members only so you better not delay in phoning Red!

Carl Klehm of the Charles Klehn nursery proved to be a most interesting guest speaker at the September 6 meeting. He answered the many questions put to him and also offered many helpful hints to easier and better gardening. Much to the delight of the members he brought along some of his products as gifts. Dick Sims received peony roots, Jeanne Thorsen, Scotts Merrion blue grass seed; George Keller, Resurrection lily bulbs; John Hedberg, Madonna lily bulbs; Alice Johnson, liquid fertilizer; Harry Kushner, gardening book; Dee Kemp, weed killer. on

The bright lights of New York beckoned Lee and John Hoover over the Labor day weekend. Lee and John left by plane Friday and spent 6 exciting days seeing the sights of New York including a stroll down famous "old Broadway" and taking in a play. However, all good things must come to an end so Lee boarded a plane back to Chicago and John went on to the Amvet convention in Philadelphia in his capacity of National committeeman for Illinois. Fortunately for Lee she didn't have that customary let down feeling after returning home from an exciting vacation because her father, Leo Marentett of Dearborn, Mich. arrived to spend a week with the family.

Baby Shower

A clothes basket on legs became a bassinette trimmed in pink and blue under the magic wand of Isobel Fisher. The bassinette held the beautifully-wrapped presents which Peggy Ponter received September 6 at a surprise baby shower given for her by Isobel and Beth Shanahan. Punch, cake, coffee and mints were served to Peggy's mother, Mrs. Harry Portner, Isobel's mother, Mrs. Ruiz, Jean O'Sullivan, Ceal Mensch, Delores Haldeman, Hope Evans, Jean List, Lorraine Zimmer, Evelyn Sage, Arleen Brown, Ginny Hartley, Jane Bee, Bea Dombreau and Judy Schmidt.

Happy Birthday

There certainly are lots of clever mothers in the Greens and Rosemary Williamson is one of them. To delight her little boy, Harry, on his third birthday, September 8, Rosemary made him a "choo-choo train" birthday cake. The engine and coal car were frosted with white icing and decorated with small Hershey chocolate bars, tootsie rolls and chocolate bits to simulate the real train effect. To further add to the party the sandwiches were little clown faces which made a big hit with everyone. Actually Harry had 2 parties and 2 train birthday cakes, the first was Sunday September 4 when 32 aunts, uncles and cousins gathered to celebrate his birthday, and the second was on his real birthday which was September 8 when he entertained his own friends including his younger sister, Suzy, and Kent and Kathy McNamara, Danny Gorey, Laura and Jeff Reed, Joyce Gran, Kathy Braun and Karen Hultgren.

This 'N That

Congratulations to Bill Miller, 1218 N. Hickory, who was elected president of the Arlington Heights Little League during the annual meeting September 6. Bill has supervision over the Little League, the Pony League and the Colt League with an enrollment totaling 600 boys last year.

The Clarendon court crowd had one of their last flings at outdoor eating Saturday of the Labor day weekend. They brought tables and chairs and set them in the court area and proceeded to enjoy grilled hamburgers and hot dogs. Counting children and parents 32 hungry mouths were fed. The families represented were the McNamaras, the Footes, the Brauns, the Miresses, the Hembds, the Horners, the Thorsens and the Zolps and the Raines.

Financial responsibility is large, too, in Prospect Heights where Carlton Smith, developer of the community, underwrote all expense of uniforms, equipment, etc.

Here are many of the adults participating in the program at Prospect Heights, with Carlton Smith in the center of the back row. Front row, left to right, Ed Beeks, George Hennen, Bob Gay and Jack Hendrickson. Second row, Bob Nelson, Claude Holcomb, H. C. Woerner, Norb Eggert and Dan Malloy. Split Shifts Hamper Study Periods, Music Classes

Monday, Arlington Heights high school had a net enrollment of 1,733 students, with some late entries still expected.

The freshman class numbered 554, sophomore 466, junior 363, and senior 350. While some drop-outs are expected after the students reach their 16th birthday, the principal factors causing the difference in class numbers are the increased birthrate beginning in 1941, and the growth of the population of the district since the war.

The split-shift, necessitated by the increased enrollment and the loss of classrooms torn down to make room for the building program, has made at least 2 dramatic changes in enrollments in phases of the school program.

STUDY HALLS have been cut most sharply. Last year there were approximately 2,600 assigned study periods daily for 1,500 students. This year there are approximately 725 for the increased student body. In order to get in all classes for the split shift, the total school day had to be cut to seven periods, which leaves no study period for any student who enrolls in a fifth subject or who has a class which must meet for 2 periods. Many science classes and shop classes must meet for 2 periods to meet the requirements of the North Central association of high schools and colleges or those for state equalization funds. A single forty minute period of the split shift program does not meet the requirements.

Music is also hard hit, dropping from last years 586 students to 425, much of the loss being in the freshman class where science classes and shop classes are most common. The freshman girls' chorus for instance, had 140 members last year, 30 this year. Most of the freshmen who are in the music classes are students who live close enough to the school to walk home after the busses have gone and who are willing to stay an extra period in order to take music.

Get Acquainted With Your Legacy!

Saturday, Sept. 17th is a day for every American to pause and give thanks for the greatest legacy man has ever received from his forbears.

On Sept. 17th, 1787, this legacy was set up by our forefathers and bequeathed to us to use and to hold inviolate for our posterity. It is our Constitution.

It guarantees that our government will use all its powers to uphold our God given rights but we, the people must ever keep our hand on the helm.

We can use it to the hilt and it will never diminish. But give up one iota of those rights for rosy promises and you have started it toward decay. Like Esau of old, you will find you have exchanged your heritage for a mess of pottage.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are urging every American to observe the birthday of our Constitution and give special honor to it throughout Constitution Week, Sept. 17 through Sept. 24th.

Fly your flag every day. Read your Constitution. Sit down with your children and explain our God given rights set forth in its first ten amendments which are known as our Bill of Rights.

Protect America's Future through patriotic education.

The following radio and television programs will be about our Constitution:

Wed., Sept. 14—10 a. m.—WGN-TV, Channel 9. 3:45 p. m.—WBBM.

Thurs., Sept. 15—10:30 a. m.—WLS.

Fri., Sept. 16—12:45 p. m.—WNBQ-TV—Channel 5. 4:30 p. m.—WBBM-TV—Channel 2.

Introducing The Staff Of Arlington School Of Music

The Arlington School of Music, 10 W. Campbell, Arlington Hts., announces the opening of its classes this week. A special introduction is being given each instructor, by Laverne Levine, founder and director of the school.

LAVERNE LEVINE

MR. LEVINE, who founded the school in 1936, received his education under numerous teachers.

Eight years of classical piano was followed by 9 years of studying modern interpretation of harmonic embellishment, arranging, and composition, for piano and accordion.

Upon his return from service he majored on organ at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago with Emily Roberts. He also took additional courses in classic harmony and counterpoint with Dr. W. Schneefuss; 2 years of key board harmony and ear training with Helen Sanford; and piano normal with Merle West.

At the Modern School of Piano, under the direction of Mr. Sharon Pease, Mr. Levine was introduced to an extensive research of modern harmonies, their application, analysis, also a special course of the principles of Boogie Woogie.

Mr. Levine has always been an ardent student of the psychology of teaching and is now engaged in an advanced course of psychology and philosophy.

Mr. Levine's 19 years of experience as a teacher and professional musician coupled with a genuine interest in teaching, gives him the ability to stimulate students to their best efforts.

MISS KLECZEWSKI

MISS BERNICE Kleczewski, artist and teacher of piano and theory. Miss Kleczewski received her bachelor's and master's degree of music from DePaul university in Chicago, where she studied piano with such renowed teachers as Magdalen Massmann and Herman Shapiro, and theory with Leon Stein and Alexander Tcherepnin.

Miss Kleczewski has made numerous appearances, both as soloist and in ensemble. Having a sympathetic understanding of the needs and problems of her students, Miss Kleczewski's students adopt a lively interest in their music.

JAMES MATTEONI

MR. JAMES I. Matteoni received his bachelor's and master's degree of music from the American Conservatory, where he studied piano under Howard Hanks. Harmony, counterpoint and composition from Dr. Leo Sowervy. While on a tour of study through Europe, Mr. Matteoni studied harmony, counterpoint, composition and piano from Professor Ferrari at the Conservatory of Milan. As a pianist he has performed in several recitals and has been honored by having had a number of his compositions performed at recitals by other pianists.

He also minored in psychology, and hopes to receive his degree in that field soon. In the meantime Mr. Matteoni is continuing his studies in composition with Dr. Sowerby. Mr. Matteoni comes to us as an experienced teacher, having had notable success ranging from the primary grades to adults.

He is fully familiar with the necessary classical aspects of music, and its pianistic interpretation, and his studies in student psychology supply him with the knowledge of the practical value of a musical education for the student.

Mr. Levine takes pleasure by this means of introducing the artists and teachers who have chosen to make their life work an art of teaching music to the children and adults of this community.

The musical curriculum in our school is complete for piano and piano acordion, classical and popular. Class instruction in theory and harmony will be given in 10 week semesters to students 9 years or older and having not less than a year of private instruction. Courses are offered both for beginners and advanced students by teachers who are experts in their particular field.

The teaching staff has been selected with the greatest care. No teacher is ever engaged by the school without a thorough scrutiny of their personal and professional qualifications, training and experience. Students may confidently expect the understanding guidance and efficient instruction that only competent and experienced teachers can give. (Advertisement

Furniture Town Opens In Arlington Heights With Modern Designs

Furniture Town—Arlington Heights newest modern furniture center—has opened at 33 W. Campbell st.

The new store was located in Arlington Heights because its owner, Maurice Lerman, felt there was "a need for an experienced furniture man to assist homeowners in planning suitable furnishings in their modern home."

Now on display are samples of modern and contemporary furnishings of manufacturers and designers from all over the nation.

"This is not a so-called discount house," declared Lerman, who has more than 25 years' experience in retail furniture sales. "We have priced our merchandise low enough, however, to enable any consumer to take advantage of these exciting new furniture styles."

Lerman will also provide at no extra charge a decorating consulting service to assist in the planning of interiors.

Manager of Furniture Town is Sid Ceaser. Hours for the store are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily including Wednesday and to 9 p.m. Friday.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by Bob Paddock

MARV BERSCHET was a familiar name heard on radio 2 weeks ago when the Washington Redskins played the Chicago Bears, playing offensive guard throughout the contest. Whether or not announcers pronounce it so we recognize it, "Berschet" means Arlington grad, Illinois, Rose Bowl and a man who "wasn't interested in professional football" to us.

Quick quote from our file: "Most members of the '51 Illinois football roster hope to play professional football some day, but not Berschet . . . is a senior in school of agriculturee and hopes to own a beef cattle farm."

A lot of footballs have gone over the dam since Marv played tackle for the Illini, performing outstandingly as a varsity regular his senior year and starring in the Rose Bowl. He went into the air force after being drafted by Washington Redskins, then took off his lieutenant's bars before reporting to the Redskins a year ago.

Marv changed his mind on playing pro ball in spite of odds against longevity, made the grade, and is keeping a lot of Arlington Heights' eyes focused on sports pages.

Ironically, 6 teammates went into pro ball with 3 already dropping out. Wodziak was in and out, Al Brosky was with the Cardinals last year but not this, and John Bauer tried out with the Browns last season. With Green Bay are John Smith and Elry Falkenstein, the latter now in service. Stan Wallace, Bear property, is now in service.

Quick rundown on "Moose": 6' 2", 220 pounds. One of 5 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berschet, Arlington Heights, '48 graduate of Heights, class of '52 at Illinois, with BS degree in agriculture. Marv met Martha Jo Roberts of So. Charleston, Ohio, at Rose Bowl, married, with the couple slated to move into a Washington, D. C., apartment this week as the season begins.

THE JV GAMES at Arlington Heights high school should be interesting ones. West Suburban conference rules prohibit any player competing Friday or Saturday from playing in a JV or freshman game the following Monday.

At Arlington just 39 boys are on the varsity squad, from which the JVs are selected as well as the varsity. Just how many of these 39 won't be used in varsity games, and eligible for JV contests, Card mentor Art Serfling hesitates to guess.

Undoubtedly several soph reserves not making the Friday games will help fill the JV squad Mondays, with more boys gaining experience in competition. Some West Suburban schools have 60-plus reporting for varsity ball, which partially explains the reasons for some of the one-sided football scores coming over the wires.

MIDGET FOOTBALLERS of Arlington Heights will see action before local fans next week, Friday night, Sept. 23, when 2 squads play before the frosh-soph contest at 5:30. Gates for the high school games will open at 5:30 with parents and fans interested in seeing 6th, 7th and 8th graders play football urged to show up at that hour. Two other squads will meet between halves of the soph game.

A 16-game schedule has been drawn up for the youngsters with men coaching the 4 squads. Having some of these games played "under lights," before a decently large number of fans in big game atmosphere should add glitter to the park district's midget football program.

The high school varsity that night will be meeting one of the West Suburban conference favorites in Hinsdale, and will be sporting spanking new uniforms. The old ones will last see varsity action against Leyden this Friday night.

TEN PASSES, 4 touchdowns, 338 yards, that was last year's record for Michigan State's end John (Big Thunder) Lewis . . . Track meet this summer in Jamaica had Indiana halfback and hurdler Milt Campbell running the 120-yard highs in :12.7 . . . Seems the officials left off one of the hurdles . . . Same thing happened at Palatine Relays a few years ago when 100-yard dashmen ran record times, then discovered they had run 90 yards instead . . . Purdue, Illini's homecoming opponent end of October, played its first game against Illinois in 1890 . . . Among honors heaped upon Leyden's Jan Smid last year at Illinois were 2 All-American, 3 All-Midwest, 2 All-Big Ten teams.

Otto Graham still holds 9 all-time Northwestern records, in spite of graduating 12 years ago, including most points 1 game, 27 against Wisconsin in '43; 4 TDs one game; completed 20 passes in one game against Michigan in '42; 93-yard punt returns against Kansas State in '41.

Best pass completion figure for Purdue was when Dale Samuels completed 12 of 14 against Illinois in '52 . . . On the squad at Iowa is Maine's Don Halverson, 186 lb. 6' junior end . . . There are 18 Illinois boys on the Hawkeye roster . . . Maine's Clem Ryan is still No. 1 center at Illinois . . . One of the freshmen hoped to be heard from on Beloit college gridiron is Roger Thomas, '54 Heights grad.

Reporting for football at Knox college are Riverside's Frank Spachman, 215 lb. junior tackle; Maine's Larry Fichter, 165 lb. soph guard; and York's George Olson, 170 lb. senior end and a letterman . . . All time scoring record for Illinois occurred 11 years ago, Sept. 16, 1944, when 13 Illinois scored 79 points in whitewashing Illinois Normal.

NIGHT BASEBALL is good for the figure, says Jimmy Dykes in the Sporting News . . . You can't go onto the field with a full stomach, and when the game is over, it's too late to eat . . . Home Field And More Veterans To Help Palatine

Friday night Palatine opens the 1955 football season with highest hopes in the history of the school for a sucessful season. The fact the Pirates are opening with that strong suburban football power, the Barrington Bronchos, should be no cause for pessimism by Palatine fans. The Pirates rate an even chance to whip Coach Fredrick's North Suburban team, expected to be long on quality and short on quantity this year.

Coach Charley Feutz, starting his third year at the helm in Palatine, has had fourth and second place teams the past 2 years and has hopes of hitting the jackpot this year with a big squad of experienced players.

Feutz states that possible starters on offense for his team Friday night will be Jeff Lehmann and Ormel Prust at ends, Leonard Rohde and Bill Thompson at tackles, Bob Kolze and Elwood Knutson at guards, Bruce Forke at center, Bob Coates or George Beyer at quarterback, Jim Hess, John Grabowy, and Steve Cornwell sharing the half back spots, and John Dilks at fullback where Rohde may see some action. George Huber, 260, and Carl Bondeson, 220, are likely to play in the line on defense. John Kiraly, a transfer from Proviso will play in the line on defense and will see some offense action as well. Jim McCreery and Bill Brock will see considerable action as linebackers on the defense.

PALATINE HAS come a long way in the 3 years since they last met the Barrington Bronchos. Humiliated by defeats of 38-0, 36-0, 26-0, and 18-0 in the last 4 games with Barrington 1948-51 the Pirates have bounced back and hope to turn the tables Friday. Since 1951 Palatine won the league championship in 1952 and finished well up in the first division the past 2 seasons.

Last year Palatine drubbed Libertyvile, 44-12, who turned around and beat Barrington while winning 5 conference games for second place in the North Suburban.

Since 1942 when Palatine started football after a 7 year lapse the Pirates have beaten Barrington only twice and one of those victories was an 8-6 upset in that first year engineered by Coach J. E. Stutzman. R. K. Welty's team of 1947 beat Barrington, 7-0. Otherwise Barrington has taken 10 out of 12 contests.

BARRINGTON has only John Walbaum, quarterback, and Wayne Miller, end, as returning regulars from a team which split even in 8 games last year. The Bronchos do have 10 lettermen and good boys moving up from a JV team which had a 6-2 record.

Barrington's frosh of last year lost only once in 9 games and should prove very tough for Palatine sophs in the Friday night preliminary which starts at 6:30. Coach Claude Bailey and assistant, John Ellis, have improved sophomore prospects but lack size and numbers.

On paper it looks like a Barrington victory in the sophomore game and a very close battle in the varsity battle with the home field and more returning regulars giving Palatine a slight edge. Admission Friday night will be 75c for adults and 50c for students and the games will be played under the lights at Palatine Community Park.

The two tackles don't often grab the same man in football, but just in case some ball carrier is foolish enough to attempt to run through Dennis Striegel and Wayne Malzahn he'll have to have plenty of nerve. The pair is the bright spot of the Cardinal line which opens at Leyden Friday night, then comes home to meet Hinsdale the following week in West Suburban opener.—Staff Photo

Talking is over as the opening football game comes up are Fenton high school's 3 varsity football coaches, Frank Novatny, Tom Meneguin and Paul Henry. Head man, and athletic director, is Meneguin, with Novatny and Henry assisting.

The coaches are meeting in Fenton's new athletic office. Bensenville high school is no more. The school has moved to its new site and building, and is using the new name as it represents the communities of Bensenville, Wood Dale and vicinity. Opening football game at the old field, under lights, is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 17, against Leyden JVs. Bison frosh-sophs will meet Leyden frosh.

Bears Out To Reverse Trend In Brown Tilt

The Chicago Bears boast a record of seven wins and only two losses in the annual armed forces benefit football series. Only one team, the Cleveland Browns, has ever defeated the Bears in this series, which will be renewed Thursday night, Sept. 15, at Soldier Field.

The Browns defeated the Bears in 1951, and again in 1953. Head coach George Halas will be shooting for his first win over the Browns, and his eighth triumph in the armed forces series.

The armed forces benefit games played to date have netted the three official relief agencies of the army, navy and air force a total of $378,350.76.

Following are the scores of the series to date:

1946, Bears 19—New York Giants 0
1947, Bears 28—Washington 7
1948, Bears 42—Boston Yanks 7
1949, Bears 20—New York Giants 17
1950, Bears 10—Philadelphia 3
1951, Cleveland 32—Bears 21
1952, Bears 17—New York Giants 7
1953, Cleveland 20—Bears 14
1954, Bears 28—New York Giants 24.

Sox Capture 2nd Half Flag In Mt. Prospect

by BETTY KIRCHHOFF

Sox defeated the Mt. Prospect Braves, 9-8, for the second-half championship of the NW Pony league, Sunday, Sept. 11. Earlier in the day the Braves had whipped the Cubs, 16-1, to advance to a show-down with their No. 1 enemies. Next week-end the 2 teams will clash for the final time to decide the season champs.

As is usual when these two teams get together there was a bitter battle from the start. Going into the fourth the Braves held a 3-1 lead and they increased that to 6-1 with a 3 run splurge. The fighting Sox came back with 5-4 the same inning to make it 6-5. The Braves handed all of these to them by committing 2 errors and allowing 2 walks.

AFTER THAT the score kept mounting until it stood at 8-7, Braves favor, in the last half of the seventh. The roof really fell in on the losers then. Billy McMillan, leading off for the victors, got a free pass. Tom Henkel sent him down to second with a single and Denny Hahn moved them both along with sacrifice bunt which he almost beat out. Don Ballou then walked to load the bags up.

After Freddy Boedeker was retired, George Bork, winning twirler, sent a grounder to Virgil at short. He bobbled it allowing the tying and winning runs to cross the plate.

Bisons To Meet Leyden JVs In Opener

Starting lineup at Fenton high school, formerly Bensenville, has been named for the football opener Saturday night against Leyden JVs on old high school field. Fenton frosh-sophs will oppose Leyden frosh in the opening tilt at 6.

Eight lettermen are listed at the 11 positions, according to judgement of varsity coach Tom Meneguin and line coach Paul Henry. With a lot of competition for positions the announced lineup was listed "tentative" but will probably hold in at least 9 or 10 positions.

Generally speaking, the lineup is that group which has been working together most of the time during practices, particularly in the backfield.

AT ENDS Meneguin will probably start lettermen Leon Langguth, 6' 190 pound tackle from last year, moved to strengthen his new position, and a junior; and Ed Froehlich, third year varsity man, standing 5'11" and weighing 155.

Other ends certain to see action are Ronald Van Brokel, transfer from Wisconsin at 6', 170 pounds; Art Clark, 5'10" junior at 170; letterman Dan Miller, 5'10" senior at 160; junior George Thompson at 5'11" and 155; and senior Floyd Busse, 5'10" and 150, playing his first year of football.

SEVEN BOYS have been operating at tackle spots this year, with 2 of them, Bob Heinrich and Wayne Langguth, slated to start Saturday. This will be letterman Heinrich's, who has 210 pounds on his 6' frame, third year with the varsity. Langguth is a junior, the same size and weight.

Other tackles are Harlan Yarke, 5'10" 215-pound senior, reserve of last year; Cliff Verdung, transfer senior at 5'10", 165; and 3 juniors, Dominic Bratta, 5'10", 165 ;Bob Karall, 6'3", 220; and Art Bartel, 5'10", 170.

THE GUARDS will probably be letterman Ken Capodagli, playing his third year with the varsity and 5'10" and 200; and possibly Russell Van Brokel, 5'11" 175 pound senior transfer.

Second guard position is wide open, which might include any of these 4 juniors: Tom Bost, 5'9" 220-pound "block"; his opposite Glen Dierking who stands 5'8" and weighs 140 dripping wet; Paul Rucker, 5'9" and 185, out with injury last year; and Russell Krase, 5'10" 170, who looks good but not enough practice to date.

TWO LETTERMEN are available for duty at center, with Donald Griffone rating the nod over

James Keiler as of Tuesday. Don weighs 170, stands 5'10". Keiler was second string center last season, stands 5'11", weighs 165. Frosh-soph center last year moving up to the varsity is Phil Sloan, 5'11", 150.

Quarterback spot vacated by Ken Sirotzki will probably have 2 juniors seeing most of the action, Lars Henricksen and Warren Nelson. Lars rates the nod at 5'10", 180, with Nelson at 5'8" and 150 close behind. End candidate Floyd Busse is also being tried at quarter.

SIX BOYS have been working out at halfback spots with lettermen Dick D'Hooge and Bob Gullborg rating the nod. Both are seniors, stand 6'1" and 5'10", and weigh 185 and 175. With the squad last year and ready to step in if needed is Dick Driggett, 5'9" and 150; and John Hauschild, 5'7" and 150. Two 145-pound juniors showing promise are Jerry Bowe and Ken Cooper with Bowe standing 6' and Cooper 5'8".

Tom Philibin, 6' 155 pound letterman, will start at fullback, aided by junior Bob Fritz at 5'10" and 175.

Offensive Line To Hold Key To Heights Record

Another season of football for Arlington Heights high school will open Friday night at Leyden when the Cardinal frosh-sophs and varsity play under the lights. A week later the Heights elevens will come home to meet Hinsdale in West Suburban league opener. Red Devils were champs last year and will provide tough competition.

Leyden will also provide a stiff test for Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's stalwarts, a squad small in number but large in determination. The Eagles are favored, the team to beat in South Suburban league with "best football team in years" on hand.

THE CARDINALS Booster club is urging as many fans as possible to follow the team to Leyden Friday night. First game starts at 6 p.m., instead of the 6:15 in effect for all other Heights games, as per conference rule.

Best way to reach Leyden field is to travel south on route 45, turn left on Irving Park road, (route 19). Travel east to cemetery on right side, then turn right on road immediately following cemetery, angling a bit to the left to reach the high school field.

OPENING LINEUP has been posted by Ormsbee but may have some changes by game time. Big hope of the team is to spring halfbacks Jim Summers or John Sujack loose. Captain Jack Ebert is no slouch at fullback, either, with offensive play of the line certain to determine the fortunes of the Heights eleven.

Squad is in good shape, physically, with Ray Horcher the only one sidelined by a shoulder injury. Starting lineup:

LE-Bill Lussow or Jack Weber.
LT-Wayne Malzahn.
LG-John Cummins.
C-Dan Vittum.
RG-Ken Korcek.
RT-Dennis Striegel
RE-Bob Harrington or Bob Busse.
QB-Lew Green.

Name 3 Lineups For Heights Frosh

Opening football game at Arlington Heights high school will have the freshmen, coached by Curtis Larsen and Maurice Kellogg, getting jump on the rest of the teams when they travel to Niles Friday for an afternoon game.

With over 60 boys out for the sport, new interest and spirit is evident in competition for starting positions. A squad of 33 will make the trip, probably the 3 named here for each spot. All 60 boys will suit for home games with 72 new freshmen jerseys available.

FROSH SCHEDULE is still a bit in doubt as no word from either Hinsdale or Downers Grove regarding change in location had been received up to Tuesday of this week. Frosh tilts with LaGrange and Riverside-Brookfield have been moved to Heights field due to double shift of classes at Arlington. Opening league game will be against Hinsdale Monday, September 26, with Maine coming to Heights a week later.

There is a variety of size among freshmen with the backfield averaging 140. First foursome has 3 large boys in Heintz, Sander and Barbour with Morris on the small side. Coaching has been hurried to date for this opening contest, with the team still about 2 weeks from being a working aggregation.

"WE'RE NOT planning platoon football," stated mentor Curtis Larsen, "but will give all 33 boys traveling to Niles Friday a chance to show what they can do. We expect mistakes, but also expect our freshmen to learn while making those misplays."

The squad appears in good shape, physically, with wind sprints operated by Larsen and Kellogg helping. Coaches hope to just specialists. They are looking for a kicker and punter, though, with Bob Barbour currently holding the edge in punting.

Ohio State	204	187	198
Northwestern	210	178	198
Wisconsin	203	190	197
Mich. State	202	183	195

Iowa has the biggest team, averaging 205 pounds per man, right through the entire lineup.

Here's the sort of forward wall teams will be faced with when they meet the Hawkeyes . . . 183, 234, 200, 215, 220, 230, 205.

Not only are these impressive figures but the names they belong to carry a guarantee of great football prowess.

The 220-pounder is Calvin Jones, Iowa's all-American guard. The 215-pounder is Roger Swedberg, who was an all-state tackle from Sycamore 3 years ago. The 230-pounder is George Kress who lettered in 1953 but missed last season because of a knee injury.

MICHIGAN has an almost identical situation.

The Wolverines forward wall is a mass of 3 digit figures over the 200 mark and includes an impressive array of names, well known in grid circles.

Ohio State is going to be surprisingly small this fall.

At a 198-pound average per man it is one of the smallest. The bottom clug is Michigan State which will average 195 pounds per man.

The Buckeye average is brought down by a 168-pound end, Leo Brown, the smallest end ever to play for Ohio State.

THREE SENIORS, 5 juniors, and 3 sophomores lined up as the first or "White" team when Illinois opened fall drills on a 2-a-day schedule today.

Coach Ray Eliot, beginning his 14th season with the Illini, indicated this alignment was purely experimental and based on spring practice. "It's up to the boys to prove themselves now. Those who stand out will receive top consideration and no one at this time has clinched any position."

To begin, however, Eliot placed Rod Hanson, 6-foot 3-inch sophomore, at left end, and shifted Dean Renn, 6-2 senior to the right flank. At tackles, he named Rudy Siegert, 215-pound senior at left, and Dick Nordmeyer, 220-pound sophomore at right.

Hiles Stout, 6-4 junior, manned the quarterback position with Harry Jefferson, shifty junior moving in to replace J. C. Caroline at left half and Mickey Bates, 198-pound senior returning to his old spot at right half. Bates was a fullback in 1954, a position now occupied by Dan Wile, 190-pound sophomore from Salem.

BERNIE CRIMMINS will string along with his veterans at Indiana at least in the early part of the season, unless a newcomer proves beyond doubt that he deserves the top spot.

"If we were playing a game tomorrow we'd start 11 returning lettermen," Crimmins commented, "and use a second 11 with no more than one sophomore. That may change before we open with Michigan State here in 3 weeks, but all things even, we'll go with the experience."

That lineup would place Pat Fellinger, 2-year letterman, at left end and Brad Bomba, the team's leading pass receiver last Fall, at the right flank. Ron Rauchmiller, senior letterman who came along fast during the 1954 season, would rate an experience edge at left tackle over Ted Ross of La Grange, junior who missed his sophomore season through injury. Co-Capt. Bob Skoronski is solid at right tackle. Guards would be Tom Hall at left and Ted Karras at right, both heavy-duty performers last season, while the center would be either Ed Wietecha or Joe Amstutz, who played about the same amount behind Jim Vesel last year.

Backfield seems likely to be returning starters Milt Campbell at right halfback and Co-Capt. John Bartkiewicz at fullback, along with Jimmy Stone, who started frequently at left half a year ago, and Chick Cichowski, the heir-apparent to Florian Helinski't vacated quarterback post.

THERE'S AN old adage that says good things come in small packages. Michigan State football coaches, however, are quickly learning that this is not always the case and point to burly tackle Norm Masters as exhibit A.

"He's potentially the best tackle we've had at State since Don Coleman," head coach Hugh Duffy Daugherty claims. Coleman, considered by many as the greatest tackle in the school's history, claimed All-American honors in 1951.

Masters and Coleman represent 2 extremely different types of tackles, in physique, Daugherty explains. Coleman was one of the smallest men ever to play the position in which weight and heft are a traditional must.

Name Starters For Frosh-Sophs At Arlington

Twelve boys have been named for 11 starting positions on Arlington's frosh-soph team, slated to pull the wraps off the 1955 season Friday night at Leyden. Squad roster now numbers 50, a good turnout of second year boys who have plenty of hustle and could go places this year.

Whether or not they do "arrive" in the conference partially depends on quarterback and end positions, where co-coaches Bill Beckman and Dick Mudge are still unsatisfied. Ever since Denny Thill and Jack Weber were moved up to the varsity, the coaches have been looking for capable replacements with necessary experience lacking.

OPENING LINEUP expected to hold true in Friday's opener:

Jim Peery and Roger Farleigh at ends.

Dean Schneck and Bob Crevistón at tackles.

Bob Hoder and Ralph Wille at guards.

Greg Rose at center.

Bill Fischer or Don Carstens at quarter.

Ed Schumacher and Howie Berg at the halves.

Denny Zapp at full.

THIS LINEUP was in effect as of Tuesday, could easily change by game time. Heading the reserves are Bob Lockwood and Jim Graves at ends, Bill Doering, Jack Hoffman and Jim Schulz at tackle.

Leading guard candidates are Lee Askelof and John Peterson with Wayne Rydberg rating No. 2 call at center. Next 2 halfbacks are Ed Kelly and George Steil with Fred Klamar looking good at fullback.

John Oberg, Maine transfer who broke his arm during the summer, is currently working out with the team, though just when he will see game competition is unknown. Another Maine transfer, a scatback, is Jim Sachtschale.

Rolling Green Golf

Weekend special at Rolling Green country club was 18-hole medal play, full handicap, with C. J. Kjellberg winning with 82-17-65. Second and third were George Handtmann with 75-6-69 and Dewy Imig with 82-13-69.

Blind bogey winners: Lee Adams, Bill Armour, Dewy Imig, V. Mann, Pete Schmitz, R. Mackey, R. Groble, A. Lundsberg, V. Cox, M. R. Heppner and C. C. Stasack.

The cross country team of Arlington Heights high school will open season competition Monday at Palatine with strength of the Cardinals decidedly unknown. Time trials of some of the boys have been run with the threesome pictured above finishing with the best. Coach Russ Attis checks his watch after Roger Neunsinger, Bill Palmer and Wayne Haemker posted 3 best times. Two frosh-sophs also setting good marks are Jim Hall and Guenther Reinke. —Staff Photo

Hinsdale Red Devils Tough, Refuse To Lose; York Has 6 Lettermen Returning

Any doubts that Hinsdale will be one of the big guns in West Suburban conference football competition have long been forgotten. Eight lettermen are back to make trouble for the rest of the league, as well as protecting a team record that includes a 34-2-2 record in the last 38 games.

In addition, mind you, Red Devils have not lost a conference game at home since 1950 when Maine whipped them, 27-13. This home league victory string now stands at 19. Only point tallied against Hinsdale last year was a 104 yard run back of an intercepted pass by Edwards of Glenbard

SCARED? Well, don't be, say all coaches everywhere, "they put 'em on, one at a time, same as you."

Hinsdale appears to have a good set of hard running backs with an inexperienced line. Red Devils rate "not as good as last year on defense, but could develop into a good running team and cause lots of trouble in the league."

Returning lettermen include fullback Blair Stanicek, at 190; halfbacks Tom Cortesi at 157, Larry Kellum at 180, and Jack Rezny at 159; quarterback Bennett Yort at 171; Don Campbell at 155 and Richard Winkler at 169 at ends; Ken Kraml at 190 at tackle; and Richard Gruhler at 191 at guard.

Coaching assignments at Hinsdale include Harvey Dickinson, head coach, plus Robert Thomas and Jack Stickels. Red Devils open season at Highland Park Saturday afternoon.

YORK HAS SIX lettermen returning for 1955 football wars and is hoping to improve on last year's 3-4 league record. Dukes finished in a tie for fifth last season.

All-star Bill Zersen heads returning lettermen for Coach John Fischer at York, currently weighing 175 and slated to alternate at fullback and halfback. Bob Hoffman is another returning halfback, but weighs only 145. Returning ends are Tom Benjamin and Don Schlemmer, both weighing 175. Guard and line backer Les Michael is back, as is center and linebacker Howard Boysen. Both are in the 170's.

Other squad members back to help York, though not winning letters last season, are guards Roger Boeger and Karl Wendel, tackle Rich Peters, end Bill Buehring.

York will open the season in a doubleheader at Elgin Friday night. Coaching assignments include Fischer, William Mueller, Erling Ellingsen and Victor Lesch for the varsity; Daniel Bloom and Lee Walhenheim the frosh-sophs, and Harold Kutler, Delbert Meitz, R. E. Wallace and Robert Will the frosh.

Arlington Harriers Open At Palatine

Arlington's cross country team will open the 1955 season Monday afternoon at Palatine, starting at 4 p.m., when either 15 or 30 boys make the trip with Coach Russ Attis in command. Card harriers will open West Suburban league slate 3 days later against Hinsdale.

Just what Heights will have, is a question mark. Coach Attis has boys reporting to him all day long, working out singly, in pairs, or in groups. Time trials have been run on some, not on others.

Frosh-sophs, generally, work out first thing in the morning, with exceptions showing up during various gym periods of the day. Juniors and seniors appear after school hours, starting about 1:15 daily.

BRIGHT SPOT in the team are the 45 boys reporting. Heavier emphasis has been placed on the sport this year, bringing more boys out for the team. Practices started before school began for some, though a majority have been out just since Labor Day.

Time trials have been taken on about 20 boys with the fastest 5 boys letterman Bill Palmer, Roger Neussinger, Wayne Haemker, Jim Hall and Guenther Reinke. Entire squad gets together only on Saturdays.

THE CONFERENCE opens next week with Arlington host to Hinsdale Thursday afternoon. Red Devils are also an unknown quantity. They have the number 1 man in the conference last year, finishing in third spot in league tournament last season.

Arlington finished fifth in league tourney last year and will be out to better that finish this time. Glenbard and La Grange will probably be favored.

Arlington will dress 45 boys for home meets, take 15 on trips Palatine is so close that 30 boys may make the trip. Coach Attis feels he'll know more aobut his squad after the Palatine and Hinsdale contests are history.

National Dog Week

This coming Sunday, September 18, will see the start of national dog week, which is observed this year from September 18th through the 24th and is the 28th such consecutive annual observance in this country.

The last time that anybody thought to make a rough count, the country's promoters, advertising men, publicity men, press agents and even some staid U.S. government bureaus had divided the year up into more than 200 "weeks." They range in purpose and in seriousness from National Brotherhood Week to National Laugh Week. One of the oldest and certainly one of the worthiest, deadly serious in its intent, constructive in its approach, completely altruistic in its purpose is National Dog Week.

BROAD OBJECTIVES of national dog week are:

1. Make dogs more useful and valuable to their owners through emphasis on their proper care and training.
2. Respect for the rights of those who do not own dogs. Special objectives this year include:
1. Every dog trained in obedience, guard or other useful work.
2. Proper care and feeding of dogs with wholesome nourishing food.
3. No stray dogs — every dog on public property must be on a lead under control of a responsible person.

MOSTLY WHAT national dog week seeks to do is focus the attention of 156 million Americans on the dog. And having nailed down the public's attention it goes on to educate it to a better understanding of dogs, their place in civilization and their proper care. Officially sponsored by the National Dog Welfare Guild, Inc., which is a non-profit, non-commercial institution, it is truly dedicated with zeal of few other enterprises to the welfare of the dog. The National chairman this year is Guy Lombardo, famous orchestra leader, sportsman and well-known dog lover.

The week itself will be pin-pointed by a number of local observances throughout the country. Locally, for example, down in Wheaton on September 18th, starting at 2 p.m .in the Herrick Lake forest preserve, located at Butterfield and Wiesbrook roads, Wheaton, there will be a community celebration with special events of various types, such as classes for pets shown by children and adults, and an exhibition of show dogs along with Obedience Demonstration, plus a showing of dogs which have excelled in field trials and other such events.

Field Trial Booklet

Speaking about Field Trials brings to mind that a new edition of the booklet "Standards of Judicial Practice and Field Trial Procedure" has just been brought out by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York.

Intended to further better judging at field trials for dogs that point upland game birds, the booklet, revised and enlarged, is the work of a committee of field trial veterans — Samuel G. Allen, Frank C. Ash, William A. Bruette, Henry P. Davis, John M. Hadaway, Elias C. Vail, Wallace F. Vail and W. Lee White—originally appointed in 1946 by the president of the Amateur Field Trial Clubs of America. The text of the booklet is in the form of questions and answers (73 in number) which represent the consensus of current opinion of many highly regarded judges. Although the booklet is not presented as a set of hard-and-fast field trial "rules," it nevertheless will be of great help to judges, whether experienced or just beginners. Dog handlers and owners will also find it of exceptional interest since it is the only current authoritative work on the subject.

A copy of the booklet may be had by mailing 25 cents to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park ave., New York 17, New York. There are special lower rates for group orders.

Lombard Obedience Trials

The obedience trials held by the German Shepherd Dog Training Club of Chicago, Inc. on Sunday August 28th, down at Lombard, turned out to be quite an event. Needless to say it was a rather warm, sunny day and by mid-afternoon there were a lot of people who were panting just as hard as the dogs.

From around our area some ten people had dogs entered in the various classes, and on the average came through pretty well, considering how hot it was. There were a few, of course, who just didn't quite make a passing score, which is 170 out of a possible 200 in each of the various classes.

Barks and Bays

A "one-in-8-billion" rarity, three Albino puppies in a single litter were born in Mrs. Connie Wagner's Pekingese Kennels, Euclid, Ohio.

Also speaking of rarities, in one of the last dog columns, I noted that by the time the article got into print it mentioned something about "racing bloodhounds." As a friend of your editor pointed out he would like to see a racing Bloodhound, and so would your editor. Through error the word "Bloodhound" was substituted for the word "Greyhound." Oh well, there is nothing like hearing about some new type of dog. After all your editor has a very good friend who has a German Shepherd which can do an excellent job on hunting for up-land game birds, especially pheasant.

Q. Please suggest a toast a man can propose to his wife on her birthday?

A. "To my wife. May we love as long as we live, and live as long as we love."

This is the second of a series of articles about Northwest conference football prospects.

ALL THE HIGH SCHOOLS in the state playing football will go into action this weekend. Most of them will play non-league games, then open conference seasons the following weekend. This is consistently true of schools in the suburban area. All the Northwest conference teams will try out new material this weekend. Topping the schedule are the Barrington at Palatine and Lake Forest at Glenbrook games Friday night. Both will be big drawing cards for night competition and involve teams regarded as top Northwest contenders.

Chuck Feutz

Fenton's Bisons, (formerly Bensenville) hopeful of having a contender after many lean years, will test their strength against the Leyden JV team. Last year they won this opener, followed with a win at Grayslake and then dropped the remaining six games for a disappointing season. Coach Meneguin is more hopeful this year and with good reason.

Ela-Vernon's contenders, with 15 lettermen, will take on the new Lake county school, Round Lake, in a non-league encounter Saturday. Grayslake, hard luck team of 1954, has great prospects but will find out if that appraisal is true Friday night, dedicating a new lighted field at Warren of Gurnee.

Grant takes on Libertyville at home Saturday night and the same evening Antioch meets Wilmot, Wisconsin, on the home grounds. Saturday Wauconda plays at Maryville in Des Plaines as Bill Friberg starts his second year at the helm. Friberg, after a 1-7 record last year says prospects are "Better—they could not be any worse than a year ago."

PALATINE HAS NOT played Barrington since 1951 when they lost to the Bronchos, 18-0. The three years before that the Pirates had been drubbed 26-0, 36-0, and 38-0. Since then Palatine has developed considerably in football. With the aid of Northbrook transfers Palatine took the league championship in 1952, their first in 25 years but Barrington was over in the North Suburban burning up the circuit.

In 1954 Palatine had a 4-3 record with a green team and last year moved up to second with 6-1, the same mark which had merited a championship in 1953. Meanwhile, Barrington was North Suburban champ in 1953 after being runnerup in 1952.

Palatine's upward surge in football came with the year when Northbrook students swelled all the squads and gave Palatine a confidence they could win in football. The number trying out for football increased and Palatine's strength since that time has been a very large varsity squad with capable reserves. Charley Feutz, a varsity coach the past two seasons, handled the freshmen in 1952 and had 43 boys on his squad at the close of the season, all of whom saw action against the frosh of other schools. This encouragement through getting a chance to play is the reason Feutz has almost all of the Palatine members of that combined Palatine-Northbrook frosh squad on his varsity group as seniors this year.

In the Northwest Conference this year Fenton (Formerly Bensenville) and Grant will play under lights while Grayslake, Ela-Vernon, and Wauconda will play Saturday afternoons. In the North Suburban only Barrington, Libertyville, and Lake Forest play football in the daytime.

ONLY FOUR LAKE COUNTY football teams won more than they lost last season. Zion-Benton led the county with 6-1-1 followed by Antioch 6-2 and Libertyville and North Chicago 5-2. By the way, Palatine beat both Atnioch and Libertyville.

Gerry Richardson of Warren tied the North Suburban scoring record held by Don Bock of Barrington with 56 and Zion set a defensive mark of allowing only eight points in seven league games. The Northwest conference is far and away the heavier scorer with returning veteran back, Bob Boyd of Glenbrook, the individual record holder with 76 points last season. He was closely followed by Alan Eck of Palatine who tallied 72.

Boyd is this year a six foot one, 185 pound player who can do everything well but we do not expect him to break his record of a year ago. He will have too much responsibility as one of the few regulars Coach Sherman will have available.

Ralph Giss of the Libertyville Independent-Reagister writes of a rumor that an all-state half back who could punt 50 yards and pass 80 had moved to Barrington. It seems it would have happened but the boy had to make up credits in summer school and Illinois does not allow eligibility to be regained that way. Barrington checked with the state office and found the player would not be eligible, so the family moved to Lake Geneva, Wisconsin where, under rulees of that state, he could compete this fall.

Frosh-Soph Slate At Fenton Incomplete

Frosh-soph football schedule for Fenton high school, formerly Bensenville, was not complete as of Monday of this week. Several games with Northwest conference foes are planned, as well as tilts with York and Leyden second frosh teams.

Coaching the frosh-sophs are Glen Van Proyan and Bill Jonkheer. Leading the freshmen is Eugene Swierczewski. Turnout at Fenton has included 35 varsity, 51 frosh-sophs and 28 freshmen.

Antioch Has Few Regulars Back; Grant Lacks Reserves

by G. A. McElroy

Most of the Antioch regulars of a year ago are gone and Coach Paul Kessenich must depend largely on reserves and boys moved up from last year's sophomore team. Antioch was in the thick of the title chase last year up until the last week of the season when they lost to Palatine and dropped to third with a 5-2 record.

The Sequoits will have to hustle to gain a first division spot this year with most of the teams improved over a year ago.

Kessenich has 80 out for football with 30 on the varsity squad and a new coach, Larry Leon, as his varsity assistant. Jerry Meyer, a 175 pound guard, and Harvey Strametz, a 160 pound guard, are co-captains of the Antioch varsity. Jim Corbel and Jim Scully, weighing in at 160 and 150, are lettermen at center. Bob Terry is the leading tackle at 185 and played regularly last year.

Counted on to be a top end is Jerry Huml who weighs 175 and is adept at all phases of wing play. Backs among award winners are Bill Layton, 155, and Don Schroeder 155.

COUNTED ON for much action are guards — Tom Kelly and Al Herman; tackles — Richard Vlk, Fred Libert, and Dave Mitchell; ends — Frank Walsh, Sid Parker, and Vern Burdick; quarterbacks —Al Reckers and Wayne Swanson; and backs — Dick Srch, Lon and Bill Barnstable. Antioch opens at home Saturday night with their annual opening opponent, Wilmost Wisconsin.

The Sequoits travel to Ela-Vernon Saturday September 24 to engage a tough contender in an afternoon game starting at 3:30.

GRANT HAS A GOOD first team but few reserves. Such a situation may enable the Bulldogs to equal their record of last year 3-3-1, good for fourth place in the league standings. Lost is Bob Klaus who sparked the team to several last period victories. Grant with 430 students will be in a new building with half day sessions behind them but Coach Lewis has one of the smallest varsity squads in the league, just 28 players. Lewis will be assisted with the varsity by Harold Witte.

Bruce Nehmer, a quiet effective player at guard weighing 165, will captain the Grant team. Nehmer has what it takes in football and is a tough competitor. Coach Lewis rates his big 180 pound tackle, Tom Bossow, as real college material and has high hopes for him.

Opposite Bossow at the other tackle Richard Edmundson, 175 pounds, is a veteran performer. Anthony Scott, a speedy 150 pound end, is the only veteran wingman. Karl Smith 155 and Floyd Weaver 160 are good returning backs. Weaver scored 35 points last year in conference games. Four other boys who are likely first string starters are Ed Havel, center, who was out most of last season with an injury; Henry Retek, 175 pound half back with lots of drive; Robert Autschbach, 165 quarterback; and Morris Jaranson, a 155 pound guard.

Grant will get a good test in their non-league opener at home Saturday night when they tackle the Libertyville Wildcats in a single game under the lights starting at 8 p.m. Grant opens in the league schedule with a double bill at Grayslake on Saturday afternoon September 24.

Pair Of 66s Tie Rob Roy Honors In League Tourney

Last Sunday the Rob Roy Tuesday league had its tournament for individual honors of the season. Grand prize this year is a large beautiful trophy donated by Hap Procunier. Each year the low net winner of the league post season tournament will get his name inscribed on it and the first three time winner will get complete possession of the trophy.

The trophy's initiated into the league with a tie when Roy Boroughf and Fred Bulsford each posted a 66. A play-off will be held at Rob Roy Saturday, Sept. 17 so that the winner can be announced at the league's banquet at the Hartman House Saturday night.

Three ties also turned up for the divisional honors and were settled by giving the nod to the low gross scorer. The divisional results were:

New Sport Attracts Many Enthusiasts In NW Suburbs

An old sport is winning new prominence in the northwest area.

The sport: pigeon racing.

Its staunch fans are members of the new 20th Century Racing Pigeon club.

One member, a recent "convert" to the sport, is E. Selof, 1058 S. Walnut, Arlington Hts., who raises 50 pigeons, 15 of them trained for flying.

HE EXPLAINED that the racing pigeon, like the race horse, has been developed primarily as a sporting breed, for racing purposes. The modern breed is about a hundred years old and has been carefully bred and as fully pedigreed as any of the greatly improved breeds of animals.

Under favorable weather conditions, the modern racing pigeons race at distances up to 500 miles between daylight and dark of the same day.

Although they usually average speeds of 40 to 45 miles an hour, they can fly faster.

Under extremely favorable conditions, races at 600 and 700 miles have been finished on the day of liberation. Fourteen and even more hours of continuous flight are not unusual.

Races at distances up to 2000 miles have been flown and won.

SELOF SAID pigeon racing is becoming increasingly popular because it doesn't require large and costly establishments, the owner can see to all activities for himself and is not required to delegate duties to trainers, and because the pigeons may be kept at home and worked with, as a hobby.

The sport has grown so rapidly in this country that as many as 10,000 pigeons have flown in a single race. At present there are an estimated 15,000 pigeon fanciers in the country.

Selof trains his pigeons 3 or 4 times a week, usually enters in races on weekends.

His pigeons finished high in the Fox Valley Combine association August 21, and in recent races from Lowden and Belle Plaine, Ia.

It takes 6 to 8 weeks to train a pigeon for racing. At first they fly about 100 miles, gradually build up to the longer ordeals.

"Interested persons are welcome to join the club," added Selof, who said northwest pigeon enthusiasts were looking for new enthusiasts.

Three Goals In Final Chukker Mean Title

Three goals in the final chukker of the national open earned Capt. Don Beveridge's Triple C Polo club the coveted championship title for the second year in succession.

The CCC aggregation from Detroit, Mich., captured the crown defeating Brandywine, of Kenneth Square, Pa., in the closing minutes of the match before an excited cheering crowd at Oak Brook's International Field, north of Hinsdale.

Featured throughout the six fast chukkers was a remarkable display of brillant riding and showmanship coupled with long hard drives and quick well planned teamwork.

At the close of the first period Brandywine led the defending champions 7 to 3 and it seemed a black day for Triple-C. In the two final frames the tables turned with the Detroit horsemen driving in six goals to a lone score by Brandywine.

Outsmarting

Too many pitchers these days are out-smarting themselves, in the opinion of Mickey Cochrane, former great catcher and now a scout with the Yankees. Quoted in The Sporting News, Cochrane says pitchers work too hard on .240 hitters. They try to hit corners or pitch to spots. So they walk them, says Cochrane, only to have a big fellow come up to drive them in.

And Other, Too

Almost 90 per cent of the nation's natural gas is produced in the 5 states of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Kansas.

Travelers Open With Victory

Travelers semi-pro football team defeated Steger, Ill., Sunday Sept. 11, at Bensenville, 40-0. After a slow 1st half, a much under manned Steger team wilted before the Travelers superior numbers and fine offensive play.v

Steger never threatened the Traveler goal line and the game was a good warmup for next Sunday's game with the Aurora Clippers at Aurora. This will open the Bi-State league schedule for both teams.

SPORTING 26 new faces on their roster this year makes the Travelers an unproven and unknown team thus far. Last season they finished in second place in the Bi-State Football League just ½ game out of 1st place. Racine, Wis., won the championship.

The Steger game gave coaches George Kulton and Jack Gezelles a fine opportunity to look over their new men under fire. Several have shown great promise of sticking with the club, among them being Melvorne Yorke, a 210 pound tackle formerly of Bensenville high and Drake university.

Wally Kirk and Bob Kruse, both former York high players, also looked good in this game. Two others who pleased the coaching staff were Frank Waryck formerly of St. Joseph's college, and John Mocko a big 240 pound tackle from Southern Cal.

Sunday, Sept. 18, Aurora Clippers at Aurora.
Sunday, Sept. 25, Racine, Wis. at Bensenville.
Saturday night, Oct. 1, Rockford (8 p.m.) at Bensenville.
Sunday, Oct. 9, Delavan Wis. at Delavan.
Sunday, Oct. 16, Rockford at Rockford.
Sunday, Oct. 23, Aurora Clippers at Bensenville.
Sunday, Oct. 30, Racine, Wis. at Racine.
Sunday, Nov. 6 Aurora at Aurora.
Sunday, Nov. 13, Roseland, Ill. at Bensenville.

All Traveler home games are played at Bensenville High Field and start at 2 p.m.

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money," — H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

Happenings 10, 20, 30, 40, And 50 Years Ago This Week

Fifty Years Ago

September 8, 1905

The Bensenville Night Owls held their hilarity meet at the depot Sunday night.

Louis Menke built a new machine shed on Henry Thies' Schaumburg place.

J. H. Meyer, Arlington Heights, has a new milk wagon. Now his milk ought to keep sweet 24 hours without ice.

Hazel Burkitt and Charley Watson are attending Palatine high school. We hope the time will soon will have her own high school so come when Arlington Heights our young people don't need to go away from home for their education.

Every up-to-date Palatine farmer will have a telephone, when he learns its many advantages, saving time and money, besides affording much pleasure.

T. P. Woodsworth, wife and daughters, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Chessman, all of Itasca, attended the Old Settlers picnic at Kingston Aug. 31.

Fred W. Pfingston, Schaumburg, had his silo painted last week by his uncle, Henry Blesterfield of Elgin.

Louis Fasse returned Sept. 1 from Minnesota, where he spent about 6 months. He says it is a nice country.

Albert Franzen, Bensenville, has been helping his uncle Herman count the cash and post the books at Roselle State Bank this week.

Forty Years Ago

September 3, 1915

Sunday evening Arlington Heights entertained a strange, but welcome visitor, Miss Francis Brown of Africa, known by the name of "KlaBada" among her people, who gave a lecture on "How the African Keeps the Ten Commandments."

Mrs. Ed Thurnau had the misfortune to run a needle into her hand Saturday and for a time was afraid of complications. Dr. Staib attended it and at present she is doing nicely in her Bartlett home.

Fred Feddeler of Quentin Corners has had his house and outbuildings repainted and repaired.

Threshing is finished on the Smith farm near Itasca. Over 2300 bushels were threshed, a much better yield than was expected after the severe wind storm a few weeks ago, when much of the oats was laid low.

Jack Keegan, Schaumburg's tonsorial artist, and his partner agreed to disagree, so Mr. Keegan left our community, presumably for Lake Zurich.

The railroad artists are giving the Arlington Heights depot and surroundings a fresh coat of paint in stable colors.

Labor Day celebration and dance will be held in Central Park Pavillion Monday, Sept. 6.

John Berlin, 42, of Palatine, passed away Tuesday from a stroke. He was a member of St. John's Evangelical church and worked farms in Plum Grove, Barrington, and Dundee before moving to Palatine.

Other deaths this week: Henry Godknecht, Palatine; John W. Decker, Palatine; and Mrs. Frederick Fisher, Palatine.

Thirty Years Ago

September 11, 1925

There is a settlement of road employees in the eastern part of Arlington Heights where a slight difference arose over Labor Day. They settled the argument among themselves, the only casualty being a broken arm for one of the men.

Wood Dale high school students this year are Gladys Hacker, Gladys Anderson, Helen Culek, Bernard Bleich, Elsa and Reinhardt Erickleman, Robert and Nancy Parish, Mary Pierce, Henrietta Heinrichs and Stephen Owen, all attending Bensenville high school.

The Arlington Heights grammar school opened Tuesday with the largest enrollment in its history. There are 50 pupils in some of the rooms and it is with difficulty that Principal Whitmore has been able to arrange the pupils. Total enrollment in the grammar school buildings is 396.

The paving machine has completed Greely st. in Palatine. The grading is progressing nicely. Some people who are seeking dirt can not understand why the same is not all black soil.

Elk Grove school district No. 59 is to have a large new brick school house with all the modern improvements. It is to be located on a 3 acre tract, corner of Touhy ave. and Elmhurst rd. This is a choice location which the board recently bought of Fred Behrens.

Mrs. Bernice McCausland of Roselle was killed almost instantly Sunday morning at 9 o'clock when her machine, a Ford coupe, for some unknown reason left the road and crashed into a telephone post near Bloomingdale.

Twenty Years Ago

September 13, 1935

The dream of every kid in Arlington Heights, and a great many of their elders, a swimming pool—may be realized at practically no expense to the taxpayers. A park including recreational facilities for night and day baseball, football, tennis and other outdoor games is in the offing with WPA support.

Death took 2 pioneers of Arlington Heights this week, Mrs. W. Guild, 78, and Mrs. Mary Dyas, 85.

St. Peter's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, observed its 75th anniversary with special services in which more than 200 area churches participated. The Rev. C. M. Noack and Rev. H. C. Fricke were pastors.

Two residents in south subdivisions appeared before Palatine village board and asked that the village use relief labor and continue the improvement of streets with gravel. The project awaits government approval. The village has no funds to purchase gravel.

The Palatine railway crossing controversy was further complicated this week by the circulation of a petition asking that Slade st. remain open. William Kehe and other interested property owners appeared before the village board to protest.

John H. Ruecker, 75, prominent Bloomingdale citizen, died in his home Sunday morning.

Roselle and Bloomingdale are applying for a total of $74,218 in WPA grants.

Mrs. H. H. Geils, Itasca, who fell and broke her arm about a month ago is able to use it as well as ever.

Ten Years Ago

September 14, 1945

Deaths this week: Elsie Guenther, 40, of Des Plaines; Martha Koehler, 65, of Des Plaines; John Kitson, 74, of Palatine; Dorothy Graue, 83, of Hinsdale; and Louisa Kraft, 58, of Des Plaines.

Considering Arlington Heights' parking problem is being considered by a Chamber of Commerce consisting of Henry F. Muller, William F. Reese, Fred Kehe, Nicholas Lattof, Walter Karstens, Arthur Franzen, Max Warson, F. W. Gieseke, Donald Knapp, Chas. Voss and Raymond Landmeier.

St. Peter Evangelical church, Northbrook, is preparing for its centennial celebration next month.

Palatine elementary school faces a critical situation. New residents of Palanois Park have 23 children of grade school age, which have boosted the enrollment to such a figure that something must be done to find space for all children attending the school.

Palatine is the only village northwest of Chicago that has not been provided with stop and go lights at one of the danger corners of a state highway. Mayor DePue has requested installation of lights at Chicago ave. and Northwest highway.

Blames Faulty Engineering for Condition of Septic Tanks

Some 35,000 septic tanks in Cook county are actually cesspools — and the county board of commissioners is to blame for the condition.

So charged Edgar A. Rossiter, consulting engineer, who said it was the board who "hired the engineer who caused this damage."

"Who will pay the damage or obtain an engineer to try out suggestions the board may make to prove the tanks' use?" demanded Rossiter. "The board of county commissioners is responsible for the condition thousands of homeowners are faced with."

In a strongly-worded letter to Paddock Publications, Rossiter outlined the results of the county's faulty septic tank standards.

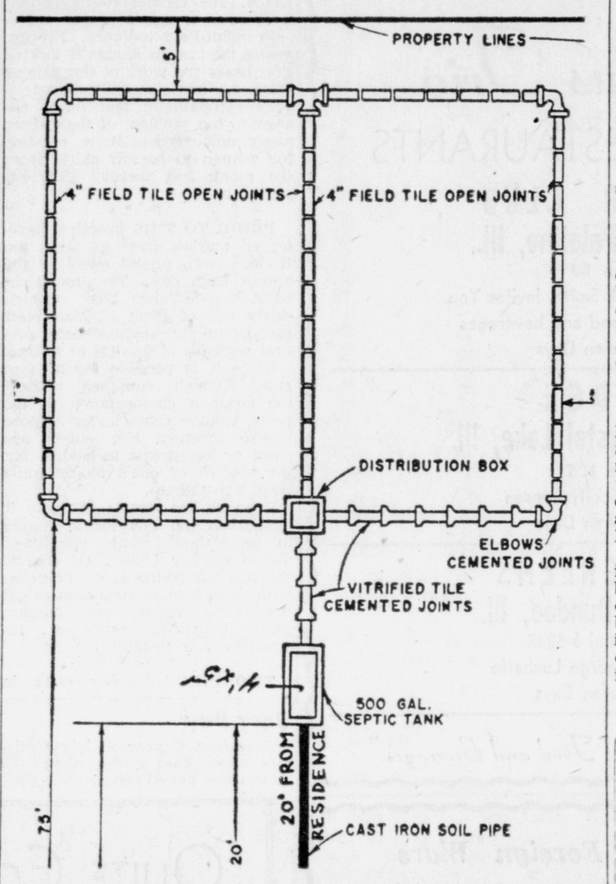
HERE IS WHAT HE SAID: "The septic tank of today is but a cesspool and in no way responds to the German engineers who designed it.



"About 1895 when I first made a study of sewer design, the Engineer Record called our attention to a sewage tank designed by German engineers that was a sucess in Germany. As a result of studying that design, I did a septic tank for the Chicago City Railway's Archer ave. terminal.

"This tank worked for years, the water running into a roadway ditch. It was crystal clear, and the chief engineer of the company said gold fish lived in the water.

"NOW JUST what is a septic tank? American engineers have twisted the design in many ways until the tank is but a settling basin.

"The Germany engineers designed a tank 5 ft. by 5 ft. and 5 ft. deep without light or air. This was for a family of 7 persons.

"The tank must be deep enough to store sufficient excreta to create heat, this heat incubated certain germs into Anaerobic Bacteria. If you were to scatter this excreta over the ground, there would be no heat developed. It is the pile of excreta in the tank that creates heat. These anaerobes devour every speck of excreta, as in Glencoe, and multiply by the millions.

"We designed a septic tank and filter bed in 1908 for Windes and Marsh, engineers, and after 10 years Mr. Windes informed me that there was no sludge in the tank. A properly designed septic tank has no sludge and when sludge appears, the tank is a cess pool.

"AMERICAN engineers are not particularly research engineers as in the case of sewer design. A research engineer wants to know how it works.

"It is a sad criterion on the ability and intelligence of an engineer who will accept and pass on an ideo or design with his insistence that the design be followed regardless.

"I am attaching a sketch which the county has insisted be followed. You will note that the so-called septic tank has an area about 12 feet. When the toilet string is pulled, about 5 gallons spread over this 12 sq. ft. of space, raising the water level 1/16 in. This 1/16 in. of water flows down to the distribution box. Here there are 34-in. pipes to receive the water and from there it flows into the 4-in. farm tile drain pipe.

"You wil note that the engineer has spaced these 4-in. farm tile a half inch apart.

"CAN YOU stretch your imagination that this 1/16 in. of water will jump over this space and land on the second tile or any of the 200 ft. of tile some ill-advised engineer requires for a disposal field? This is a question for the birds.

"Some 20 years ago we noticed that a septic tank stunk to high heavens about 20 ft. from the tank, so we investigated. Before the tile was covered, we placed 5 gallons in the tank and measured the water rise 1/16 in. Then the water flowed down to the farm tile. This we did for 7 times and not 1 drop ever entered the second tile.

"Later we filled the tank with 35 gallons that would represent using a bath. This water raised the water in the tank about one-fourth of an inch and this water drifted into the one-half inch space between tile.

"AFTER 7 TIMES, we noticed that the stone under the tile was wet on the 12th tile. Had the tank been a real septic tank, the water would have been clear and no odor would be present. However, with a cess pool for a tank, the gas caused by some heat in the cess pool caused matter in suspension to flow out of the tank which leaves its stink at the end of the first farm drain tile.

"We examined the tile 12 ft. from the distribution box and there was no evidence of any water ever having passed through the tile but had drifted along the stone."

Letters to the Fence Post should be short and concise. All letters must be signed, though name will be withheld if desired. Address Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

From Spain

"But the moon will be beautiful, you must wait till she shines on all of us!" So urged the elderly nursemaid, who left her four charges to dash over to us when we started to leave our bench in one of Seville's many parks. (in Spain) Her voluble gestures and eager Spanish tongue made her friendly urgency crystal clear.

But it would soon be too dark to visit the nearby site of the convent which sheltered Columbus during the years he planned his voyage. So the nursemaid was disappointed. But an old man was overjoyed. Two teen-age girls had jumped for our seats, with him but a step behind. He summarily commanded them to get out, and an old lady came to enjoy with him the bench he had seized.

OUR ONE SEVILLE disappointment was the lack of a flashbulb color camera to take a picture of our bathroom! Done in rich copper on tile, it portrayed hunting scenes of centaurs and satyrs, with unicorns and other prey endlessly escaping these gods of classical antiquity. We briefly "received" all the other 12 members of our party (touring Southern Spain) in this "out-of-the-world" bathroom. None of us ever before, anywhere, saw a tub in such fascinating surroundings.

Columbus' bones supposedly rest in an elegant bronze tomb in Seville's majestic cathedral, one of the world's greatest churches, but the will of Columbus apparently specified a rest in Santo Domingo, next to Haiti. Some Seville people believe the bones of one of Columbus' sons actually are in their cathedral.

THE GREAT Rock of Gibraltar loomed before us, on the way to Seville, and we stopped over one night at Algeciras, to go over to the Rock and to have a good view of the nearby coast of Africa, across this narrow part of the Mediterranean sea.

We dined at 10 p.m. (the fashionable Spanish hour) in a garden by the water, with a Spanish orchestra and a lovely moon, soft breezes and fragrant flowers, making an unforgettable memory of our view of the "Rock" so famous in history.

Mailman's Corner

You can believe it or not, but it's 3:30 a.m. and I have just finished reading Mailman's Corner by Leland Ellis Truxell. I said to myself, and to many people all my life, exactly what you wrote (not in those words, I cuss at times to stress it). I am not old, 34, but trusted people all my life and most times was rewarded with ridicule and the worst of everything.

If I admit I believe in God or my fellowman, quote the Bible or preach the Golden Rule, etc., I'm accused of being a "crack-pot" or even an idiot. I said just today that some way, somehow or somewhere, I would find a person such as you, that had the "guts" to print the truth. I even prayed to God to find such a person, believe it or not!

I want to write, and have been asked by strangers, what's holding me back? I have a gift for using the right words at the right time and in a way that everyone understands. My answer is, I don't have the education. Another reason I give is that I tell the truth, and you wouldn't believe it anyway.

I'LL ADMIT I was one of those people you described and am ashamed of it. I had a chip on my shoulder for a long time until I had a breakdown a few years back, a doctor straightened me out, and I was determined to try again. With the Grace of God and the help of a wonderful doctor, I was taught to face life and fight back. Even though it cost my husband $1800 for me to learn that, he is the first one to say I'm "snapping" again.

Can you tell me what has happened to the world? My own husband tells me our only friend is a dollar. I never did believe that and I never will. I'll never be rich if it is measured in money. You can't buy, at any price, a good friend. I have many, so I'm a millionaire.

I WORK for the blind workers organization and sell their products. Believe me, I've met a lot of people through letters and telephoning, and help from strangers. Whenever I am disgusted, trying to make people believe, there is always someone worse off than they are. When I'm ready to quit I think of the blind and handicapped people; especially of one girl in particular who, though in an iron lung, sells by phone to earn her living. The majority of her customers do not know she is handicapped; she asks for no pity! Honestly, I am ashamed of myself when I complain of a pain some place or another.

No, I'm not trying to be a martyr. As the saying goes (and I can quote them all), "I cried because I had no shoes till I met a man who had no feet." I am only one person and not God, so I can't be everywhre to help those who need help, but I'll find someone who can help them if at all possible.

BEFORE I CLOSE let me say I will show your column to many people. I am going to have a few copies made of it and when I go into my own business (soon) I will have it framed and hung on the wall where everyone can see it. Next to it will be my favorite saying I read in the Ladies Home Journal, not too long ago. "Going to church doesn't make you a Christian anymore than going to a garage makes you an automobile."

Parochial Schools

I have 3 grandchildren attending parochial school in Arlington Heights. Because they do not attend public school their parents have to pay for transportation to and from school.

On the other hand, milk, lunch etc. is provided at reduced prices same as in the public school.

They also receive the same medical attention — teeth, eyes, etc. It is difficult to understand why transportation should be the exception.

IN A FEW short years many of the boys in your town will be reporting for service in the armed forces and when the trucks or buses roll up to meet them at the station — it will be all aboard for each and every one — regardless of what school attended.

I also have grandchildren attending parochial school in town of similar size about 25 miles southwest of Arlington Heights. There is no transportation problem there. They ride the same bus as their playmates — no distinction.

IF PAROCHIAL school children are entitled to milk, lunch, examination of teeth, eyes etc — why is transportation excluded?

May I suggest that those responsible, sharpen their pencils and start figuring the amount of money the parochial school is saving the taxpayers of your town each year.

Likes Yearbook

I write to tell you how much we appreciate the very fine work that was done by you and others in your organization on the yearbook for the Arlington Heights Woman's Club this year.

The splendid cooperation of Bill Schoepke and Lou Tanner in lining up the material and your promptness in getting the books and envelopes to me have made my job an easy one and resulted in a yearbook of which we are very proud.

Share The Tax

Since so many of the larger towns have shopping centers that draw patrons from other localities that do not have the stores to cater to them, I believe its only fair the towns around them should get a percentage of the extra ½ cent sales tax these large shopping center towns will receive from patronage.

Perhaps this could be worked out to an advantage, so that all nearby localities could benefit from this so called local town tax.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Much sickness is caused by the inability of individuals to compete with others. Laziness is not nearly so often deliberate as inescapable when a person feels incompetant mentally or physically.

The woman who would rather sleep than keep house is generally incompetant; but the woman who is up bustling around, busy as a bee and happy as a lark is that way becuase she knows she is a good cook and housekeeper, or excells in some hobby. A successful college football player is often as successful after graduation as his more studious fellowgraduates, simply because his success on the football field has built up his confidence in himself in other activities. The old saying "nothing succeeds like success" is in this sense perfectly true.

A FEELING of general incompetance is enough to make anyone feel ill. One gets that "what's the use, I can't do it," or "I'm not as smart as others, not as strong" feeling. This feeling, constantly present, makes one try to avoid every task, because one is sure of failure, and consequently will not succeed.

Let no one fool you, getting rid of that feeling takes some doing. You not only have to fight fear of failure and ridicule, but you have to fight the thoughts in your mind, the muscles in your body. You really have to want to make something out of yourself with determination and persistance that will keep you on the job.

HAPPY, WELL adjusted people have great respect for and confidence in themselves, and take pride in their accomplishments. To become that sort of person is within every normal person's power. Since incompetance and lack of confidence generally are the result of improper training and attention in childhood, you really have to be reborn to do it; but it can be done.

Incompetance and fear affects the health. Such a person has less will to resist disease, often welcomes sickness as an excuse for shirking responsibility. Failure to discipline and train yourself will make your life one of misery, illness and fear.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

from Patty McArdle

Dear Peg:

I have just read a fine rebuttal opposing the theories of the child psychiatrist who, leaving his wife to manage the children, goes off to his sound-proof ivory tower to write about: How To Be An Ideal Mother—Though You Have Children or, If You Raise Your Voice We Know You're Neurotic—And All Of Your Kids Will Be Psychotic.

The article I've just finished is entitled "The Paradox Mother" and is an excerpt from the book, "Paradoxes in Everydoy Life," by Dr. Milton Sapirstein, a well known New York psychiatrist who teaches psychoanalysis at Columbia university. You can find this comforting story in the August 15 edition of Vogue magazine.

It opens with the words of a poor distraught mother telling the doctor she was never meant to be a mother, because no matter how hard she tries she just can't seem to stay a patient, calm parent. After repeatedly asking Johnny to play somewhere besides in the kitchen and he almost tips something over on the stove, makes a mess in the sink trying to wash dishes, stands around doing irritating things and tops the whole thing off by spilling a glass of milk all over the floor, Mama blows her top! She shrieks, swoops down on him and gives him a loud smack right in the place where it does the most good.

However, well conditioned by all the child care columns she reads faithfully in the daily newspaper, feelings of guilt rise quickly to the surface and she takes Johnny for a spin in the park while she tells him how sorry she is and how much she loves him even when she spanks him. This is a picture of many of us nowadays—maybe somewhat exaggerated, but still a darn good likeness.

WE'VE READ AND BEEN TOLD that the explosive mother has never grown up herself and all her children start out with a great handicap. She loves them but can't give them the calm, solid affection they need for their difficult climb to maturity—they are simply bound to feel insecure and rejected. How can a child fail to be severely damaged by such open display of anger or confused when authority is so fickle—when he is punished one minute and consoled the next?

Now, the paradox is here: the children of these shrieking mothers turn out surprisingly well—"somehow they turn out to be happy effective adults. On the other hand, some pretty poor specimens emerge from the home where the emotional barometer is always steady and both parents are models of self control and understanding."

Most of the censure attached to the emotionally uncontrolled mother is based on the unwarranted comparison of her actions and those of a psychotic mother. The latter rages and punishes for no reason having to do with the children—she makes no sense from a normal viewpoint. The volatile mother who screams and punishes quickly makes a lot of sense.

SPONTANEITY IS ONE of her greatest assets as a mother. She communicates with her infants and children through the language of the emotions—the only language they understand. Her children have the enormous advantage of knowing exactly how she feels, what she is, what she condones in the way of behavior and how she'll react if disobeyed. There is a healthy give and take between child and mother—a mutual responsiveness which makes the child feel alive. He sees that he can really make a noticeable impression on his mother with his antics, which serves as a protection against the aloneness and withdrawal of the tortured schizophrenic.

Fortunately for her child, the explosive mother hasn't the patience to "manipulate"—a singularly cruel device which subtly undermines the child's sense of security. Nor does she delude him into thinking that he is doing what HE wants to do, when it is she who wants him to do it. She neither seduces nor tricks him into compliance and consequently he learns how to obey and accept authority—a rather important thing to know as long as we live in a democracy where laws are made to protect the people and when they are made, we are TOLD to obey them not ASKED to obey them!

FROM HIS QUICK tempered mother, the child learns quickly the limits of tolerable behavior. "That is excellent training, but he can't get it if his mother doesn't join in the fray. His anger, when met with unyielding calm, becomes a temper tantrum which is in a sense a plea for aid against an impulse which has become self destructive!"

Rage is normal, it's a part of the civilizing process, but if it is met with shattering calm and patience, it may be accompanied by resentment and this combination is more than a child can take without being harmed. The fiery, explosive mother drives her child's resentments into the open and with frequent displays of her anger, justifies her child's anger, so that no matter how naughty he is he has a ready-made excuse for blowing up instead of harboring the gnawing feelings of guilt. "To be able to rationalize behavior in this way is a great comfort. It lightens appreciably the load of guilt which we are all compeled to carry with us into maturity. Your children have a right to see what makes you tick, to see that you are a real person, fallible, tempestuous and thoroughly human. To understand is not enough — they must understand you."

My love,
Patty.

Meet Your Hospital Board

This is one of a series of personality skitches introducing board members of the Northwest Community Hospital Center that will serve residents living in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Barrington, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

"It can be done—with hard work and community cooperation."

So declared Mrs. Patricia Hoover, 1239 N. Race, Arlington Heights, a director of the Northwest Community Hospital Center.

"If residents are educated on the need, which is great, and the importance of their support, the hospital will become a reality," said Mrs. Hoover, member of the board's community education committee.

Member of the Junior Women's club, she studied psychology at the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Hoover is married and has 3 children, Patrick, 5, John, 4, and Mike, 2.

"The continuing influx of married persons with growing families into the northwest area has made it imperative that these towns be provided with adequate hospital facilities," said Robert Griffith, 408 Carlyle, Arlington Heights.

A shortage of doctors also interested him in Northwest Community Hospital Center.

It's hard to interest physicians in this area as long as we are without decent other items.

hospital facilities," said Griffith, who is commodity advertising manager for U. S. Gypsum Co.

He majored in advertising at University of Omaha. Currently active in the northwest suburban chapter of the Amercan Cencer society, he is chairman of the publicity committee for the hospital board.

Griffith is married and has 3 children, Laura, 8, Stacy, 5, and Amy, 2.

A hospital is just as important to a community as its schools, declared Joseph Osten, Inverness, Palatine, in explaining why he supports the Northwest Community Hospital center.

"The need is obvious," he said, "when in emergencies it's necessary to travel a minimum of 14 miles to get to the nearest hospital."

Osten, an insurance man, is also president of Grant Hospital in Chicago and is chairman of the medical affairs committee of the center's board of trustees. It is the committee's function to develop a medical staff for the new hospital.

A resident of Inverness for 5 years, Osten serves on the board of Inverness Golf club.

Approximately 1,275 students will register in the professional schools of medicine, dentistry and law located on the university's Chicago campus. The Northwestern evening divisions, also on the downtown campus, will have an enrollment of approximately 9,000 part-time students.

Expert Tells Fox Lake Board New School 'Sloppy'

Fox Lake village board members were told recently that Grant Community high school's new addition is safe so far as its structural strength is concerned, but the building job was "sloppy."

The report was made by Building Commissioner John R. Kilb based on an investigation made by a registered structural engineer who was called in as a neutral expert to judge the construction.

Reprieve From Death

Five thousand Americans won reprieves from death last year. These lucky Americans would have died violently, along with 90,000 of their fellow citizens, if accidental deaths had not dropped 5 per cent from the year before.

The death rate in 1954 was 55.8 per 100,000 persons -- a 7 per cent decrease from the 1953 rate and the lowest rate on record.

This decrease in accidental deaths occurred despite an increase in population, high employment and booming motor vehicle travel, according to the 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, which is just off the press.

The greatest reductions were in industry, which achieved a 7 per cent reduction in fatal accidents, and in motor vehicle deaths, which dropped 6 per cent. Home deaths were down 5 per cent and public (non-motor vehicle) deaths showed a 3 per cent reduction.

Tourists Find Barriers To Hot Weather Fashions In Europe

by BILL DILLINGHAM

American tourists in Europe never know to what problems their short pants may lead them.

Crossing the border into Spain or Andorra in short pants can stop official machinery quicker than siesta-time. The tourist will be required to open up his suitcase and "get dressed".

IN ITALY during the tourist season when the heat prompts people to dress as briefly as possible, most of the country's churches maintain closed doors to those tourists who are "out of costume". Women in ankle-length slacks are not admitted to the famous St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome. The official ruling is that a dress is woman's proper attire.

In Saint-Paul-de-Vence, France, where the famous chapel is located that bears the work of the painter Matisse, tourists encountered a very sympathetic and novel answer to the problem of their short pants and slacks. It is possible for women to borrow skirts from the monk and thereby gain admittance.

PRIOR TO THIS practice, bare-legged tourists fresh up from the Riviera were turned away by the dozens each day. The monk at Saint-Paul-de-Vence has enough skirts (all of them of Mae West proportion) to accommodate several busloads of tourists at a time.

While it is possible for men to enter Spanish churches without too strict a conformation to the rules, women come under a more severe scrutiny. Not only are short or long pants forbidden, but the sleeves of one's blouse must be of wrist length.

Even on the streets of Spain it is against the law for a woman to be without some length of sleeve on her blouse. Of course, the Spanish police are very polite with American tourists who might break this ruling, and nothing more than precautionary reminders are usually made.

TWO PIECE bathing suits in Spain are forbidden to be worn through force of federal law, and in some areas the men must have shoulder straps to their suits.

Commenting on these restrictions to the monk at the chapel of Saint-Paul-de-Vence, an irritated English tourist said: "Disgustingly immoral, these bodies of ours!"

German Factory Gives Missing Parts For U-505 At Museum Of Science

The diesel engines of the U-505 submarine at the Museum of Science and Industry, will soon be turning over again.

A six-month search for missing parts was successfully concluded by a contribution from the Maschinenfabric Augsburg-Nurnberg A.F. firm (usually referred to as M.A.N.) in Western Germany of the vital missing parts. These consisted of 18 fuel injection needle valves, 4 cooling water thermometrs and 2 admission handwheels.

At first the task seemed almost hopeless. The engines hadn't been run since 1945 when the former German submarine was used by the navy in war bond promotion on the east coast. It was then taken apart by the navy to complete its examination and evaluation of German construction methods. When the U-505 arrived at the museum to beome a permanent war memorial for those lost at sea in two World Wars, restoration work was begun. The search for missing parts was carried on with the cooperation of the navy and many U. S. firms who sent technicians and equipment to replace broken or missing items.

The German government also helped by sending a former submarine commander to help identify equipment and catalogue missing parts. Some items had to be fabricated and technical manuals were obtained from Navy sources and German ship-building firms.

Finally through the help of the German government, the original builders of the U-505's engines were contacted and agreed to provide the missing parts without cost as a contribution to the U-505's restoration.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

Each week, as we look at the front of our lovely high school, we wonder where the children are holding classes. Bless their poor old broken down hearts, they must be going to class in the halls and the foyers and it must be confusing to say the least.

We wish we could get over the feeling that somewhere along the line we had let them down. We do not remember that we had to attend classes in half day sessions, nor undress in a washroom for gym, nor have gym in the foyer of the gym. And, we went to school in the middle of the depression. Things must be tougher than we thought.

We are the victim of our own foolishness and vanity. We seem to go through life with the idea that there is nothing that we can't do if we put our mind to it. Just ask us if we aren't the last word in child training, business, dog handling, bird taming, veterinary medicine, pediatrics, and anything you care to mention. We really are.

This cocksure attitude may inspire some sort of psuedo confidence in the recipient of our knowledge, and then again they may be just polite, but it certainly gets us into a peck of trouble. We are always sticking our foot in it, whatever it may be, while we bite off more than we can chew. The combination is both uncomfortable and impossible.

Psychologically speaking we are wondering if this attitude isn't some sort of protest against our lack of real knowledge. Actually we think we aren't so smart as we think. This thought will probably throw us into such a pitch that we will be insufferable for weeks. It all reminds us of a thing that our mother used to quote.

"The centipede was happy quite,
until the toad for fun,
Said, 'Pray, which leg comes after which?'
Which threw her mind in such a pitch,
She lay distracted in the ditch,
Considering how to run."

We are at that point. A good night's sleep will probably fix everything.

With fall almost here, now is the time to go through your summer vacation photographs. That's a suggestion from the Chicago Natural History Museum.

The museum would like to look at your best prints and slides. If they are good enough, they might take prizes in the exhibit of nature photography to be held at the museum next February.

There is some restriction in the subject matter that interests the museum, however.

Pictures of plants are fine. So are shots of such natural phenomena as clouds and rocks.

There's a classification for animal life too.

But that pin-up picture of your girl isn't acceptable. Pictures of the human animal-even in Bikini-just won't win any prizes in this contest.

Entry blanks are obtainable from the museum, at Roosevelt Road and Lake Shore Drive. Final deadline for entries is Jan. 16, but contest officials say early entries will make the classification committee's work easier.

The prints and slides will be shown in the 11th annual Chicago International Exhibition of Nature Photography. Sponsored by the Nature Camera club.

Some Answers On New GI Home Credit Controls

Veterans' administration today answered several questions concerning credit controls on GI home loans.

The credit control order of July 30, 1955, requiring a two per cent down payment and limiting the maturity of such loans to 25 years was not retroactive, Robert D. Beer, VA's manager for Illinois, stressed.

Exempted from credit controls are those new and existing homes for which VA received requests for certificates of reasonable value (appraisal) prior to July 30. He said the appraisal request is the first step in the GI home loan procedure.

EXTENSIONS of certificates of reasonable value on properties exempt from credit controls will not subject the units to down payment and maturity requirements.

However, veterans will be required to pay closing costs in cash on any exempt property for which a certificate of reasonable value was extended.

In multi-home projects, substitution of houses on lots selected by veterans will not subject the property to credit controls if both the house and lot are covered by appraisal requests received by VA prior to July 30.

The new credit controls will not apply to GI loans made solely for the replacement or reconstruction of residential property that has been destroyed or substantially damaged by flood, fire, or similar disasters.

The new requirements do not apply to repair, alterations or improvement loans.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

Needle in the Groove....

Music lovers nationally are showing great interest in the quality of sound reproduction available from tape recordings. Three new Webcor albums highlight this growing trend. A tape will outlast the lifetime of most of us; it is cleaner, has even more uninterrupted playing time than a disc. These Webcor issues are what we call prefabricated tapes, and till now the repertory available has not been too outstanding.

All three albums were recorded at the speed of 7½ inches per second, double track--which means when you finish one side of the reel, you turn it over and play the other side of the tape. It is possible to get an hour and a half of play on a single reel at this speed, using both sides.

TWO WEBCOR releases feature the Fine Arts Quartet, Chicagoland artists who have won international fame for their musicianship. One album offers superbly vital readings of the lovely Mozart G Major Quartet, K.387--reminding us that next year we celebrate the 200th anniversary of Mozart's birth--and the powerfully eloquent Brahms A Minor Quartet, Opus 51,No.2. So realistic is the sound that you feel the group is playing in the room right beside you; there is no needle hiss or hum as with playing discs.

The other Fine Arts album is devoted to a sparkling performance of the melodious Dvorak "American" Quartet, so-called because the great Bohemian composer wrote it here on a visit and used some of our own folk tunes in his music; it includes also Bartok's fury "Roumanian Dances," Bloch's moving "Prayer" and Saint-Saens' "Allegro Apassionato." These and other solo selections feature the individual members of the Fine Arts group, all brilliant performers as regards technique.

The third tape album features the Sorkin Symphonette, headed by violinist Leonard Sorkin of the Fine Arts ensemble. We hear the serenely beautiful D. Minor Concerto Grosso by Vivaldi, Mozart's enchanting "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," and the richly expressive, melody-filled Tschaikowsky Serenade for Strings. A revelation of musical realism, and, indeed, chamber music like this is perfect for hi-fi!

Police Chase Youth In Wild Auto Race

A 16 - year - old Des Plaines youth went joy riding August 25.

Police spotted his car going around the S-curve on Mannheim at high speed, then clocked him at 90 to 95 miles an hour. It disregarded stop signs at Touhy, turned the corner barely missing cars waiting to get across, and then turned right on Railroad avenue.

Police gave chase with red light and spotlights on and siren wailing. The car began to weave back and forth on dirt road, causing considerable dust. It started turning down side streets, and weaving in and out of cars. On Maple st., the car lost control, skidded sideways, blew a tire and stopped.

When asked why he didn't stop or why he was driving so fast, the driver replied "he just didn't know."

In the Shadow of The Steeple

by William O. McGill

One part of the problem of the maintenance of community services during the development of large subdivisions could be met at the legislative level. There surely must be enough wisdom in the state legislature to draft the laws which would make it possible for communities to require cooperation in community services from those entrepreneurs who add to the need for such services.

Perhaps the federal insuring agencies could facilitate the method by which contributions by the builder could be added to the mortgage in such manner that the owner would ultimately pay his share. I am not a lawyer and do not understand all of the problems involved — but there must be enough legal talent available to the federal agencies and state agencies to make some steps possible without taxing the whole society for the benefit of specific communities where individuals are making a profit. Federal or state aid in such emergencies would amount to nothing more than a subsidy to the building industry.

THERE'S ROOM FOR development of a conscience throughout the building industry. Here and there are glimmerings of such a development. Public relations is the last aspect of industrial development which the building industry has approached.

A mere onlooker recognizes that some businesses feel the necessity to keep the customer satisfied because of the necessity for service and replacement. Houses do not usually come into this category. But it is manifestly unfair to assume that "free enterprise" is the freedom to develop problems and remain not responsible for any share in solving them. The initiative in such solutions should be assumed by those helping to create the problems before the problems actually arise.

"Free speech" is not the freedom to shout, "Fire," in a crowded theatre. It took a while before our country was able to interpret that. "Free enterprise" is not the freedom to sell impure foods or harmful drugs. This was not determined until within the lifetime of many who live among us. The Pure Food and Drug Act was opposed as an infringement of personal freedom.

MORAL responsibility has been fixed in many areas of our life. It will be fixed in other areas. One of these days, government is going to fix moral responsibility upon the building industry. How much more farsighted it would be — how much more impressive it would be to society — if the building industry were to take the initiative, if builders were to say to each other, "Schools and services are a necessity to everyone to whom we sell. Let us assume the burden of responsibility. This is one of the public costs of doing business."

In many communities it would generate a wholly different attitude toward new developments.

Sept. Is Best Time To Sow New Lawns

By JOHN H. BICKET

September is normally the best time of the year to seed new lawns reports John H. Bicket, Cook county assistant farm adviser.

Many home owners have found themselves in a situation where starting new lawns at this time of year has not been practical, Lawns started in the spring are next best, however, the hot dry weather this summer has taken its toll and many lawns are in poor condition.

MOST VARIETIES of grasses used in lawns normally go into a semi-dormant period during the hot dry portions of the late summer and early fall. This has been alarming to some people, however, under normal conditions the grass will grow up and be as good as ever as the rainfall picks up this fall.

During this semi-dormant period in the growing season weeds will show up in greater abundance. If the lawn is old these weeds can be easily combatted by the use of 2, 4-D weed spray at the rate recommended by the manufacturer as printed on the container.

DO NOT SPRAY new lawns for the control of weeds. Spraying for weeds using the chemical at half strength is sometimes used but is not generally recommended. This will not kill the weeds, but merely serve to slow down their rate of growth and may damage the new seeding.

For information on "How to have an attractive lawn" secure University of Illinois circular 729 from the agricultural extension service, 201 No. Dunton, Arlington Heights, or by writing the University of Illinois college of agriculture. Urbana.

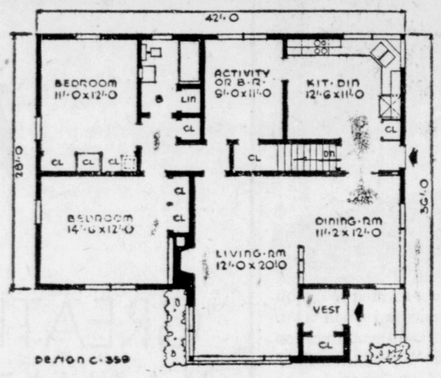
SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-359



DESIGN C-359. The attractive exterior of this compact house is a combination of face brick, wide siding and exterior plywood, with a covered entrance of lattice work. There are two large picture windows, shutters and a brick planter. The roof lines are low.

A study of the flexible floor plan will readily suggest a variety of uses for the small bedroom in the rear. Conveniently connected to the kitchen, it can also be used as a work or playroom, nursery, den, study, or a breakfast room, etc.

The large dining room is actually a part of the living room, partially separated by a what-not shelf. If the fireplace is not wanted, a possible location for the furnace chimney is indicated. Floor area of this house is 1320 square feet, with cubage of 25,008 cubic meet.

Man, 20, Poses As Deputy Sheriff, Is Fined $200 By Judge

A 20-year-old Elmhurst man's impersonation of a DuPage deputy sheriff cost him $200 last week.

The fine was levied against James Hartman on a disorderly conduct charge by the Justice of the Peace in West Chicago.

Hartman was arrested July 26 after an Aurora man told the DuPage county sheriff's office the youth curbed him on a highway and flashed a deputy's badge for an alleged traffic violation.

Hartman told authorities he found the badge at Comiskey park and threw it into the Chicago river the day before his arrest.

Give Your Roses The Hot Foot

Now, really—ever since the news came out people have been saying—"Put my roses in hot water? Never! Wouldn't dream of it!"—and yet, those who do treat the little lovelies to a hot tub find that the tired ones revive and the sturdy ones thrive just that much longer—a day or two.

The fact is, that our rose scientists of today have found out that if you put your cut roses into hot water (bath temperature) when you receive them from the florist, after cutting off the bottom of the stems a bit, they will absorb the water that much faster and be much happier than with the cold tub.

Make your arrangements in this hot water and just let them stay that way—the water cools rapidly and all is well. Clipping the stems and another warm bath the next day and every day prolongs their life.

Jewel Tea Plans Expansion Of 20 New Stores Annually

Jewel Tea Plans Expansion-lud

Jewel Tea co. announced plans this week for continued expansion of super food markets in outlying areas of Chicago and suburbs.

In its midyear report to stockholders, the company said they will open larger stores at the rate of approximately 20 a year. Some of these will be in new communities and others will replace outmoded units.

"THESE NEW stores are designed to satisfy the demand of customers for a wider variety of household products," said G. L. Clements, president, "as well as groceries and meats offered on a self-selection basis with air conditioning and parking lots."

He added that the movement of people and the demand for larger shopping units has resulted in the closing of more smaller stores than was originally contemplated under the "Three Year Store Growth Program" started in 1952. At the same time, many additional opportunities have been created for profitable new stores, whose sales on the average are 2 to 2 times the average for those closed.

SINCE JANUARY, 9 modern Jewel Food stores were opened in the Chicago area and 8 outmoded small stores were closed, bringing the number in operation to 174 on July 16. A total of 53,749 square feet of floor space was added, a gain of 4 per cent since the beginning of the year.

Clements also announced that net earnings were $2,217,077 or 11.4 per cent above those in the first 28 weeks of 1954. Sales reached $161,455,750—a new first-half record and 11.6 per cent above sales in the first half last year.

Record Breaking Home Pace Is Slowing Down

Record breaking heat which might have been expected to exert restraint on new building in August actually had little effect on it. Some slowing down in the suburban area is indicated but the overall figures show progress.

The figures for August permits reported to this survey support this enthusiasm. For the year thus far home building in the Chicago region is 4,250 homes ahead of last year. The eight months total is 32,278 homes. That for the corresponding period of 1954 was 28,028. Homes reported for August are 4,400 as against 4,015 for July, a gain of 385 homes.

CHICAGE ITSELF is 597 homes ahead of last year's first eight months and the city's August report shows a gain over August of last year of 295 homes, and over July of this year of 452 homes.

In the suburban towns home building is of course still far ahead, the record being 16,552 homes from January to August inclusive last year and 19,709 in the like period of this year, a gain of 3,157 homes. But as mentioned, a moderate slowing down is seen in the figures for August. Homes reported for the suburban towns for August 1954 amounted to 2,524 as compared with 2,307 for this August, a falling off of 217. A similar decline is noted between July and August. July had permits for 2500 homes, August only 2,307, the difference being 193 homes.

THE UNINCORPORATED areas are 496 homes ahead of last year, 126 ahead of July. Here again August returns show a loss of 80 homes in comparison with August of last year, the figures being 910 homes this August, 990 in August 1954.

All building in the Chicago region for the eight months of this year has amounted to $711,512,832, a gain of $163,075,893 over 1954. August is nearly $26,000,000 ahead of August of last year and $17,500,00 over July.

DOWN ON THE FARM

with Your Farm Adviser

CARL F. MEES

We have an outlook meeting coming up in North Cook county Monday, September 26, at 8 p.m. at the farm bureau building in Arlington Heights and one in South Cook county Wednesday, September 28 at 8 p.m. at the farm bureau building in Tinley Park.

Some of you who have never attended one of the meetings probably wonder what will be discussed. In short, here is the pattern that is usually followed. We have an agricultural economist from the University of Illinois discuss the general outlook for the next 6 to 12 months.

Then he discusses the more specific phases, such as the outlook for dairy, beef, hogs and poultry. He will also discuss feed supplies and grains. When you leave the meeting you will have a better understanding of what to expect if you buy feeder cattle and expect to feed them out or if you are in the poultry business etc.

These meetings usually draw a good attendance. If you have never attended one of the meetings plan to do so this year.

WE SPOKE to a garden club in Barrington Friday on conservation. It was a most enjoyable occasion. I did not know so many women were interested in this subject. Of course, we did get over into the subject of gardens, lawns, reforestation, etc. but stayed chiefly with the soils.

If we can get enough women interested in the subject of conservation, I am sure future generations will not have to worry about having an adequate food supply. We do have a surplus of many food supplies at the present time, but with our population increasing at the rate it is today we probably will be faced with a shortage by 1970.

WE HAVE HEARD it said many times "As agriculture goes so goes the nation." We have seen it develop in many of the European countries. However, if the American people will interest themselves in the welfare of agriculture, it will not be necessary for us ever to have a degenerating agriculture.

We left Sunday for East Lansing, Mich. to attend the annual convention of the national county agricultural agents. There will be county agents in attendance from 47 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. A total of over 1200 are expected to attend.

Cook county is the largest rural urban county in the United States. We are currently serving as chairman of the rural urban committee in the national organization. (FM

Expect Record Soybean Crop To Move At Good Prices

In spite of a record crop that may reach 420 million bushels, soybeans are expected to sell at relatively good prices, a farm economist told the American Soybean Association in Cincinnati today.

T. A. Hieronymus of the University of Illinois forecast a price ranging around $2.10 a bushel to Illinois farmers. His forecast was made with reservation because of the huge supply. "We have no experience to guide us," he warned.

MEAL AND OIL make the soybean market. We've been using increasing amounts each year, Hieronymus explained, and so far prices have adjusted to keep supplies moving into use and not into storage.

The domestic meal market — chiefly livestock protein feed — is expanding, he says, and there is room for more expansion. Livestock diets are still low in protein. Farmers are now using half again as much soybean meal as they used 15 years ago. And meal prices have been going up in relation to feed grains, Hieronymus explained.

ON THE OIL SIDE we have to depend on the world market. The economist pointed out that world population is increasing, people are enjoying prosperity and they are demanding better diets. Supply seems to be in balance with demand, Hieronymus said.

He dubbed Russia a question mark. Her sources of oil — China and American cottonseed oil surplus — have dried up. This should strengthen the soybean oil market.

Hieronymus expects oil to be about 11 cents a pound and meal about 51 dollars a ton. (FM

Suspend 70-cent Added Charge Per 100 Lbs. Milk

Emergency action by the department of agriculture temporarily suspended a 70-cent additional charge for every 100 pounds of milk sold out of the Chicago area. The suspension became effective September 1.

This action was made as the result of testimony given by the Pure Milk Association and other dairy cooperatives which serve the Chicago market and by the Chicago milk dealers. The testimony was made at a public hearing held in Chicago, August 24.

THE EFFECT of the emergency action will allow more Chicagoland milk to be bottled instead of being diverted into manufacturing channels. This will tend to increase the price paid to farmers for milk.

The 70-cent premium would have become effective by the operation of the Chicago federal milk marketing order. In June a large part of the milk production in the Chicago area was consumed by Chicagoland people. While there was still a surplus of milk in Jine, the rate of consumption indicated that by October or November milk might be in short supply in the area.

TO REDUCE the danger of a milk shortage in the Chicago area, the 70-cent provision which has been a part of the Marketing Order would have become effective automatically on September 1. It would have assured that a larger supply of Chicagoland milk would be available for use in the Chicago area.

However, representatives of both the Chicago milk companies and the Chicagoland dairy farmers testified at the August 24 hearing that milk supplies would be adequate for the month of September. As a result of these recommendations the 70-cent provision was suspended temporarily.

Expect Hog Prices To Hover Around $15.50 This Fall

Average U. S. hog prices for the August - January period will be about $15.50 asserts National Live Stock Producer, the nation's leading live stock publication. The lowest month will be November or December when the average price is likely to be around $14 to $16.

These estimates are based upon four major factors -- number of pigs farrowed, disposable consumer income, pork in cold storage, and average July hog prices.

These factors prove responsible for 92% of the variation in the average fall price of hogs.

VARIATIONS in the number of pigs saved from the spring - pig crop is the best single indicator of changes. Price usually changes in the opposite direction from changes in pigs saved.

Usually an increase of 10% in spring pigs saved will mean a drop of about 18% in hog prices during the following marketing year provided other factors do not change.

CHANGES IN INCOME affect hog prices because consumers naturally spend more money when they have more income and part of the added expenditure goes for pork.

Large pork storage holdings increases the total supply of pork and results in a lower price.

Finally, the July price of hogs is associated with the price of hogs in the following fall months. A change of 10% in July price from a year ago usually indicates a change of about 2% in the fall level in the same direction.

Best Vegetable Buys On Market

Locally grown produce from the Chicago vegetable producing area coming to the Chicago markets week of September 12, according to Cook county truck gardeners association.

Best buys — Cabbage, dry onions, pickling onions, tomatoes, curley parsley and radishes.

Good buys — Acorn squash, summer squash, red cabbage, eggplant, green onions, green cucumbers, mustard and turnip greens and hubbard squash.

Starting to reach the market — yellow cucumbers, parsnips, potatoes, pie pumpkins and horseradish.

Anticipated best buys for week of Sept. 19, — cabbage, dry onions, acorn and summer squash, tomatoes, peppers and curley parsley.

Corn Maturing Early This Year

The corn crop promises to be one of the earliest maturing on record this year. The August drouth drastically curtailed yields but hastened ripening. Many Iowa fields were almost completely dried up by Labor Day, as they were in the nearby states of Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota. Only east of the Mississippi are many fields found where the desirable "ripe ear on a green stalk" occurs. Only under those conditions can corn make its maximum yield.

Much corn will undoubtedly be harvested in September this year. Reports of picking from southern Illinois, southern Indiana and Missouri were being received from DeKalb Seed Corn crop reporters as early as September first. The first DeKalb seed plant to report harvest was at Mt. Carmel in southeastern Illinois on August 30th. Other plants in northwest Iowa and southern Minnesota started soon after Labor Day, and all will start by mid-September.

CONTINUED DROUTH has caused heavy canning crop losses in Wisconsin, burning of pastures over wide areas and extensive salvage of corn by pasturing, ensiling and cutting for fodder.

The earlier-predicted second largest corn crop in history will now drop to well below three billion bushels, which will make it the smallest crop since 1947, when a figure of only 2,350,000,000 bushels was raised. DeKalb's reporting service, based its estimate on carefully weighed estimates from 5500 observers, who have talked to thousands of farmers, and has come up with a predicted figure of 2,837,000,000 bushels for this year's crop. This is about 100,000,000 bushels below last year's crop and over 600,000,000 bushels below the August 1st U.S.D.A. estimate. (FM

Beef On Farm TV

Each year citizens of the Monmouth area conduct a Prime Beef Festival to celebrate the importance of Warren county as a beef producing center.

The 1955 Prime Beef Festival will be featured on the "Farmtown, U.S.A." television show Sunday, September 18.

Stanley Sims, Warren county farm adviser, will tell of the importance of beef to the area's economy.

Observe Safety Rules In Operating Machines

You can reduce accidents in using farm machinery if you and your operators will observe the safety rules set up for farm machines, says O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois safety specialist.

The farm operator who disregards safety precautions is really asking for trouble. Manufacturers have gone a long way in providing safety features on their machines. The manufacturer has placed shields over chains sprockets and gears. But is is up to the operator to see that these shields are kept in place while the machine is in use.

The Manufacturer has also placed warning signs on machines where there is danger of injury to the operator. These signs must be observed if they are to protect you. (FM

Stores food the way you buy it—the way you use it, too!

If you've been waiting for something really new before trading in your old refrigerator, this is it! Here's a huge separate food freezer and refrigerator combined into a giant kitchen storage center for all the foods you buy today. The refrigerator on top with its own separate door brings everything out in plain view on Roll-to-You Shelves . . . in Egg Drawers . . . in a Meat Tender and special Utility Drawer.

New Flowing Cold chills food faster, in more constant cold. And the handy Pantry-Door has a Butter Conditioner, containers for leftovers, lots of space for bottles and jars . . . and now puts vegetables at your finger tips in a new swing-down Hydrator. Defrosting is automatic in the refrigerator section.

The Food Freezer is actually as large as many separate cabinets sold today. Maintains zero zone temperature and defrosting is seldom necessary. It stores 169 lbs. of frozen food in two big baskets that glide out to you. Juice Can Tray, plus Quick-Cubelet and two Quickube Ice Trays. Most-used frozen foods are extra handy in the separate freezer storage door.

Choose either Porcelain or Dulux exteriors in decorator colors—Sherwood Green, Stratford Yellow or Snowy White. You've never seen anything like the beauty and convenience of this new food-keeping combination. SRF301-102

FRIGIDAIRE LIVE-WATER WASHING

Only Frigidaire Has It!

Yes, for the lowest price ever in Frigidaire history, here's a fully automatic washer that gets out all dirt without pre-soaking. Yet, it's safe for even new miracle fabrics.

Exclusive Live-Water Washing with pulsator action releases all the cleansing power in your soap or detergent. Soap is fully dissolved, evenly distributed. Clothes are always under water, so surging currents get out ground-in grime. No twisting or wrenching, no lazy "lift and dip" washing.

Famous Float-over Rinsing carries dirt up and away from clothes and down the drain. Rapidry Spin follows, leaving clothes near-dry, pounds lighter than other washers, easier to handle, quicker to dry. You save 2 to 8 gallons of hot water per load—even more on small loads. And you can save suds water for re-use if desired. Lifetime Porcelain top, lid and tub give you rust protection where it counts most.

RHODES, INC. ANNOUNCES

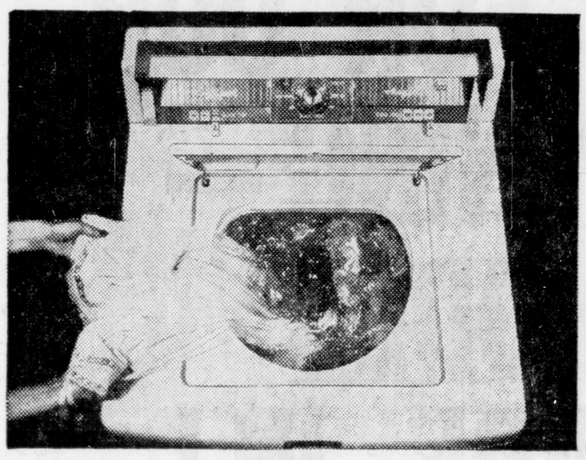
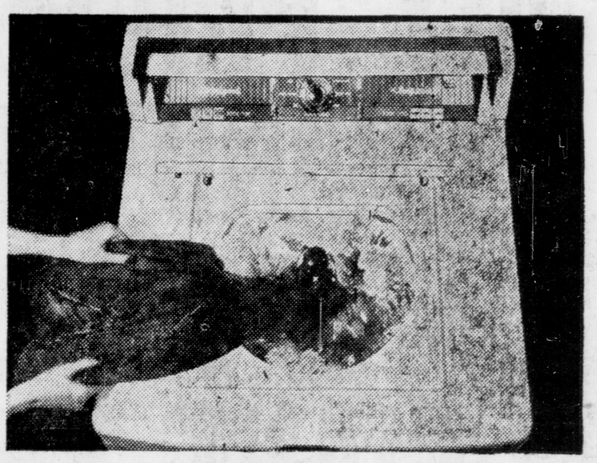
with 2 separate washing actions to safely wash all fabrics!



1. Low speed and short time for hand gentle washing of dainty fabrics.

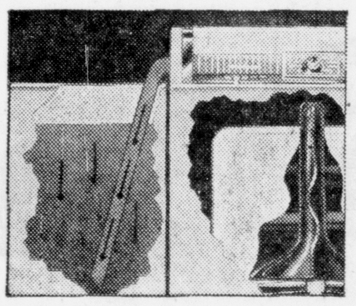
This completely separate cycle is fully automatic from fill to finish and has a ⅓ lower speed and shorter time for safely washing, rinsing and damp drying your sheerest, delicate fabrics. No more special "hand" washing . . . wash everything in a Whirlpool . . . it's automatic and super safe for washing dainty fabrics!



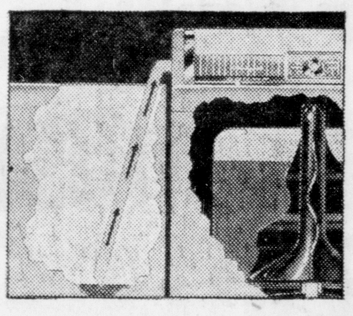
2. Normal speed and time for thoroughly, yet gently washing all regular fabrics.

With its normal speed and time, Whirlpool washes cottons, linens and all regular fabrics thoroughly yet with gentle care. This regular washing cycle is fully automatic and completely separate from the low speed cycle. Only Whirlpool makes for you a washer with two separate washing actions!

with Suds-Miser to save over 50% of the cost of soap and hot water!



Hot water is stored after first load.

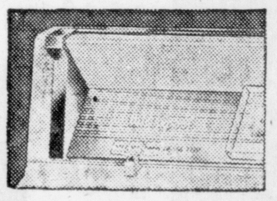


Hot water is returned for re-use.

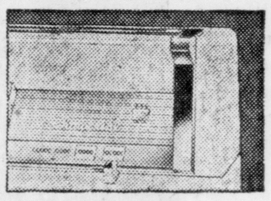
Suds-Miser is the big "extra" only Whirlpool gives you. It saves money for you every washday. It stops the needless waste of suds and hot water going down the drain when they can and should wash extra loads of clothes for you!

Built-in, fully-automatic, Suds-Miser is a Whirlpool exclusive. Here's what it does for you. After the first load of clothes is washed, Suds-Miser automatically pumps the hot sudsy water into a laundry tub for storage while the rinsing and damp drying are completed. Then, for your next load of clothes, all you do is set the illuminated indicator at "Suds-Miser" on the dial and, automatically, only the clean, hot sudsy water is pumped back into your Whirlpool washer for re-use.

with 4 drying temperatures to safely dry all fabrics faster!



Full range heat with 3 temperature settings for all regular fabrics. Simply set indicator and automatically correct heat safely dries clothes. Fabric guide eliminates guesswork.



For drying lingerie and sheerest of fabrics you have a special delicate heat of 110°F. This setting automatically assures the correct, safe heat for drying all delicate and synthetic materials.

Three years ago an IDEA was born—and grew—
Completely individual
It shows a wealth of room—invites hospitality
It plans a freedom from care
It offers beauty and comfort in each of it's SEVEN ROOMS
Its owner has enjoyed these things in full
And now must past them on to you
$65,000 represents the price—Is far less than cost.

Soil Capability Tour Shows Varied Effects Of Fertilizers

A good crowd of interested people attended the soil capability tour at Paul Sweningson's farm Monday, August 29.

Ray Newberry, soil scientist for soil conservation service assisted the North Cook soil conservation district in explaining the different soil types, at the different stops after the people had a chance to judge the soil. Judging the soil gave them a better understanding of this soil and the soil on their own farms.

Soil types are determined by the ease of air and water movement in the subsoil, the texture of the subsoil, steepness of slope and degree of erosion on the top soil remaining. This is the basis for determining the land classes. They used this information to determine the use of the land such as cropland, hayland, woodland, etc. Another phase in land judging was the cropping plan or rotation best used for this land thus being able to apply it to their own land.

LAST in the judging were the special practices that might be needed, such as erosion control program, drainage program, soil fertility, pasture improvement etc. This determines the best land use for permanent agriculture.

The four stops included an area of gently sloping land with topsoil almost at it's natural depth of 10 to 12 inches with slight to moderate erosion. Another stop with a 6% slope (moderately sloping) showing serious erosion with 6 inches of top soil remaining or plow depth.

A third stop showing deposition. This showed soil washed off the slopes and deposited 10 inches of brown soil over the black top soil at the bottom of the slope. This was flat land.

THE LAST STOP, also on flat land had a different story to tell. First there was no deposition and no erosion. There was a good subsoil as well as top soil but this area needed drainage. About 3 feet from the surface we accidently broke a tile almost full of dirt, as a result, no drainage. This large flat area is now in pasture but if there is sufficient outlet for tile drainage this could be very productive. Newberry pointed out that it is some of the best land in the State, but as so often happens the ditches have been neglected and silted up. Tiles that once had an outlet above the water line in the ditch are now covered over with the "good earth". This is a result of hap-hazard farming methods in the past. We know better now and the North Cook county soil conservation district is doing everything it can to help farmers do a better job.

Maurice Umbdenstock, soil conservationist for North Cook soil conservation district showed the comparison in yields and losses between conservation practices and common practices. This is general information and will not be the same for each farm. Each one is different and so is the management.
